Emergency drill tests preparedness

23 injured near Gary

Shirley T. Pruitt, an 8-year-old Gary girl, and 22 others were injured Thursday when a train struck a bus in Gary, West Virginia, according to information released by the emergency services.

The accident occurred at the intersection of East Main Street and West Main Street, near the Gary High School. The bus, carrying 24 students, was traveling north on West Main Street when it collided with the train, which was traveling east on East Main Street.

A total of 23 passengers, including 21 students and 2 adults, were injured in the collision. The students were transported to local hospitals for treatment, and the adults were taken to West Virginia University Hospital in Morgantown.

The Gary Fire Department and the West Virginia Department of Transportation were on the scene of the accident, which is still under investigation.

In a statement, the Gary Fire Department said that the students appeared to be in good condition, and that all of the injuries were non-life-threatening.

The accident is being investigated by the West Virginia Department of Transportation, and the Gary Fire Department is working to determine the cause of the collision.

Downtown appearance improvements sought

Seeking ways to improve the downtown area, the Carriage House Development Foundation is considering a number of ideas for improving the area.

One idea being considered is the construction of a pedestrian plaza. The foundation is exploring the feasibility of constructing a pedestrian-friendly area with benches, trees, and other amenities.

Another idea being discussed is the installation of lighted signs for businesses in the downtown area. The foundation is considering the installation of a lighting system that would allow businesses to display their names and logos at night.

Farmers' market produce scarce

Farmers' market produce has been scarce this season, according to farmers and market patrons.

"The weather has been too hot and too dry, which has affected the growth of certain crops," said Mark Collins, a farmer from nearby town.

The market, located on U.S. Highway 79 North, has been struggling to attract customers due to the limited availability of produce.

Rodeo bullfighter set

Bullfighting is a popular entertainment in many countries, and the Rodeo Bullfighting Association of America has been working to promote the sport in the United States.

The association has been holding events in various cities across the country, and the next event is scheduled for this weekend in Los Angeles.

The association is seeking bullfighters from around the world to participate in their events. Interested bullfighters can contact the association at (800) BULLFIGHT.

Gym floor problems reoccur

Gym floor problems have been recurring at the Carriage House Elementary School, leading to complaints from parents and students.

The floor has been causing problems for the past few years, and the school district is working to address the issue.

In the past, the floor has been repaired several times, but the problems have persisted. Parents and students have complained about the uneven surface, which can cause tripping hazards.

The school district is currently evaluating options for repairing the floor, and will be working with contractors to address the issue.

With the school year in full swing, the district is hoping to have the floor repaired before the end of the school year.
Susie ponders taxes, politics, Ollie North

By Alex Miller

From last week's letter in the Panola County Post, I knew that the citizenry of Panola County was doing its part to help keep our country on track. I also knew that some people were beginning to wonder if the country was heading down the road it had taken for the past few years.

As we approach the end of the political season, I would like to remind everyone that the cost of living is rising faster than the price of gasoline. It is time we all did our part to help keep the country on track.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I am confident that the country is on the right track. I urge everyone to do their part to help keep us on track.

Sincerely,
Alex Miller

'It could have been worse,' says Clements of tax bill

By William R. Clements Jr.

As the tax bill was signed into law, I would like to take a moment to thank all the people who worked so hard to make sure that this bill was not as bad as it could have been.

The tax bill is not perfect, but it is a step in the right direction. I urge everyone to do their part to help keep the country on track.

Sincerely,
William R. Clements Jr.

Financial aid for students

The struggle of saving and collecting money for higher education can be a difficult one for many students. However, financial aid can be a viable option to help reduce the burden of college costs. There are various types of financial aid available, including grants, scholarships, work-study programs, and loans. Each type of financial aid has its own eligibility criteria and requirements. It is important to research and understand the different options available to determine which one is best suited for your situation. Additionally, many colleges and universities offer financial aid programs specifically for their students. It is recommended to contact your college's financial aid office for more information and to explore all possible options.

YOUR FAITH HELPS DISPENSE THE EVILS OF ENVY AND RESENTMENT
It is almost a normal trait of human nature to harbor an occasional feeling of envy or resentment toward someone who we feel has "the whole world" while we feel we have only a "piece of nothing." It is still wrong, and there are some reasons why. First of all, we have no right to judge the goodness of others. Second, we have no right to make comparisons. Third, we are not in a position of being able to judge others. For all of these reasons, we need to be aware of the evil of envy and resentment.

Youth rides to regionals English style

By Sheryld Carday

Zachary Carday and his Quarter Horse "Jack" qualified for their first national competition after topping the winner's circle in the junior showmanship competition at the Panola County Post. Carday and "Jack" were successful in the English riding division, winning the championship in the junior showmanship division. The competition was held at the Panola County Post grounds.

Practicing the technique, Zach and Cy's image gracefully clears the obstacle

Although Zach's ride was not as precise as he would have liked, he still managed to finish in the top five. "Jack" proved to be a great horse, and Zach was proud of his performance.

According to Mrs. Nimson, her son Zachary is very excited about the horse show and his chances of winning. "He has been practicing for months, and I am sure he will do well," she said.
