BY MRS. CLOSE BAKER

Our reader at church Sunday, June 25, was our guest, Mrs. Lucy Craig, who was the recent winner of the 15th annual Fair. Mrs. Craig has a wonderful voice and is a member of the church choir. She sang a solo for the congregation and was accompanied by Mrs. Jenny Johnson, who is also a member of the choir. Mrs. Craig's performance was received with much appreciation.

Panola's largest Vietnam vet homecoming event was held Sunday, June 25, at the Panola High School. The event was sponsored by the Panola High School Homecoming Committee under the direction of Mrs. Betty Jeter. The event featured a parade, a reception, and a homecoming dinner. The event was attended by over 1,000 people, including many veterans and their families.

PJC construction includes book store

PJC Junior College president Dr. Jimmy Crumley announced Wednesday, June 27, that a new book store will be constructed on the campus of the college. The new book store will include a variety of items, including textbooks, supplies, and other educational materials. The new book store is expected to be completed in the fall of this year.

Water use increases during July

July's cumulative rainfall of 4.12 inches was slightly above the long-term average of 4.02 inches. This is the third consecutive month with above-average rainfall, and it is the second consecutive month with above-average rainfall for July. The cumulative rainfall for the first six months of the year is 20.75 inches, which is 7.17 inches above the long-term average.

Hobby drops out of governor’s race

By Lindley Williams

Texas Watchman

When governmental term was extended in 1967 from three years in length to four, the state legislature made no provision for the resignation of a governor midway through the term. The act of resignation has not been needed until now, and even then the only case to date was by former Gov. William P. Hobby of Houston.

A move to change existing law was introduced into the House of Representatives last week by Rep. Philip J. Magness, a law professor from Fort Worth, who is a candidate for the November general election to succeed the retiring Democrat Gov. William J. Hobby Jr.

The move, sponsored by Robert B. Perry of Dallas, the head of the state Republican party, is expected to pass easily, with the exception of the diehard conservatives who oppose any change in the term for gubernatorial office.

Republicans already have in mind the gubernatorial race of 1970, at which time the crisis caused by personal health problems may recur. The party has put out word that there may be someone on the ballot who is a reasonable substitute for the governor's race, but no names have been announced.

James Earl Rudder, the former governor who now heads the Texas Railroad Commission, is thought to have the best chance, since he has served on the executive committee of the state Republican party.

Bill Hobby was the first governor to be defeated by a sitting member of the U.S. Senate because of personal health problems. He died of cancer in January of this year.

Hobby, who is 76, was first elected in 1952 and was re-elected in 1956 and 1962. He is a member of the Democratic party and has served as a Texas senator since 1955.

The move to change the law was introduced into the House as House Bill 111, which would allow for the resignation of a governor and the appointment of a successor by the legislature.

Another change that would be made by the bill is to provide for the appointment of a successor by the lieutenant governor, who would be elected for a two-year term.

The bill was introduced by Magness, who is running for the Senate seat vacated by Hobby.

Amos Miller

Dallas Morning News

Attila the Hun is dead. Amos Miller, the T-Wheeler, no longer has to worry about being hunted down by the Gestapo.

After spending a month in jail, Miller was released on bail last week. He had been arrested on a charge of publishing a hate sheet that was critical of the Nazis.

Miller was tried by a jury last week and found guilty of the charge. The jury was unable to reach a verdict in the case, and was discharged.

Miller is a radio announcer and author of several books on race relations.

Whyte panel outlines changes in state tax policy

By Panola Watchman

The House Ways and Means Committee has recommended a number of changes in the state tax policy, including a decrease in the state personal income tax rate from 3.5% to 3.0%.

The committee also recommended a decrease in the state sales tax rate from 4.5% to 4.0%.

The changes are intended to provide a tax relief to the state's residents and businesses.

The committee's report was released last week, and it is expected to be voted on by the full House later this month.

The changes are expected to result in a decrease in state revenue, but the committee believes that the benefits outweigh the costs.

The committee's report also includes recommendations for changes in the state property tax system, including a reduction in the state property tax rate from 2.4% to 2.0%.

The committee believes that these changes will help to reduce the burden on property owners and businesses.

Children's physical health screened at Schumport

Sequestered in Oregon and Idaho, the Beaver Route on Oregon was very interesting. They visited a town or village every day, and at times the route was obstructed by trees and brush. The route was manned by the government, and the operators sometimes had to work very hard to keep it open. The road was very rough, and the settlers had to be very careful of their equipment. The trip was very challenging, but they were determined to complete it.

Hanging moss, colorful blooms mark yard

Marilyn and Bubba Collier

By Dorothy Mericle

The white house Cape Cod on stilts St. Bill, Bubba Collier hang from a tree in the Collier's yard. The hanging moss, colorful blooms mark yard. The plants are healthy, vibrant, and add a touch of nature to the yard. We dug the dead woods up in Arkansas. They were so tiny we stuck them in the Daily Queen to bring them home to plant them.

Tom Simmons, administrator of the Carthage, Texas, hospital, has accepted a new job as administrator of the new hospital being built in Vidor, Texas. Simmons, who has been with the hospital for three years, will resign effective September 1, 1987.

The occupancy tax board approved the budget for the Panola County Heritage Foundation, which includes the budget for the heritage library and the heritage activities. The budget was approved for $1,000,000, which is $1,060,000 less than the initial request for the second story.

Christmas lights approved

The Governor's Development Foundation has approved $1,000 to Carthage, Texas, to help with the purchase of a new building for the Carthage Public Library. The library will be located on the downtown square and will be a new addition to the town's downtown area.

All-new Homemakers School coming

Remember last December? The new Homemakers School opened its doors in Carthage, Texas, to a crowd of eager students. The school's faculty and staff are excited to welcome new students this fall.

Reception planned for Texas Ranger

Texas Ranger Gary Sayers will be honored at a reception to be held at the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame and Museum in Waco, Texas. The reception will be held on October 1, 1987.
