Some details on the age of Texas hospitals

Under provisions of the Texas Insurance Code, calendar years 1986, 1987, and 1988 will be used to record the age of Texas hospitals. As a result, hospitals opened in 1984, 1985, and 1986 may report different ages. The age of a hospital is determined by subtracting the calendar year in which the hospital opened from the calendar year in which the report is filed. Hospitals opened in 1985 will report age 1 on their 1986 reports, age 2 on their 1987 reports, and age 3 on their 1988 reports.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Responds to editorial

As a health care professional, I must express my disappointment with the recent editorial on hospital care which failed to recognize the unique situation of our area.

We, at Regional Hospital, have been providing top-notch medical care to our community for over 50 years. Our dedicated staff is committed to delivering the best possible care to our patients.

In response to the editorial's claim that hospitals are overcharging, I can assure you that we are constantly working to improve our services and keep costs as low as possible.

Please consider the following:

- We have implemented a number of initiatives to reduce costs, such as improving our billing processes and negotiating better contracts with suppliers.
- We have invested in new technologies and equipment to improve the quality of care we provide.
- We are constantly looking for ways to improve our services and are always open to feedback from our patients and community members.

I encourage everyone to visit our hospital and see the commitment we have to providing quality care.

Sincerely,

From a doctor

As a doctor, I must disagree with the editorial's claim that hospitals are not providing the best possible care. Our hospital is committed to providing the highest quality of care to our patients.

We have a team of dedicated doctors and nurses who are always looking for ways to improve our services and keep costs as low as possible.

County tax rate set

As County Commissioners met for the last time before the start of the new year, they adopted a tax rate of 7.90 mills. The rate, which is 5.5% above the current rate of 7.51 mills, is set to generate $271,900 in revenue for the coming year. The rate is expected to remain unchanged for the next two years. Commissioners also approved a budget for the coming year, which includes funding for new equipment and personnel. The budget also includes a plan to reduce debt, which is expected to save the county $150,000 in interest payments.

YARD OF THE MONTH

Wanda and Jerry Hanszen

Past, present blend in harmony at Hanszens’

The "new" building that was Jerry’s boyhood dream has been turned into a reality with the help of his parents, who have been able to nurture it into a beautiful garden full of plants and flowers. The property includes a variety of shrubs, trees, and perennials, creating a lovely oasis in the midst of the city.

Jerry’s parents were so interested in these things, he often works on them. One of his favorite pastimes is gardening, and they enjoy spending time together taking care of the yard.

"I love spending time with my family and creating something beautiful together," Jerry said. "It’s nice to see how far we’ve come from when we first started farming."
Arts, crafts will be sold at showing

The annual craft show will be held on the steps and in the lower level of the building on Saturday, November 26, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The show features works of art and crafts made by local artists and craftsmen. Admission is free to the public.

Painting in oils topic at society

Society of Artists of America will present an oil painting demonstration at the C.M. Martin Art Center on Saturday, December 3, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The demonstration is free to the public.

Ross descendants meet for reunion

Descendants of James Ross and Isabelle Robinson Ross held their annual reunion on September 5 at the Clarksburg Community House. More than 100 family members attended the event. A luncheon was held, and speeches were given by several family members. The event was a great success.

Service League has fall supper meeting

The United Methodist Women's Service League held its fall supper meeting on September 15 at the home of Mrs. Robert Johnson. A delicious meal was served, and several officers were elected for the coming year. The event was a success.
