State awaits fall freeze

Cool fronts have brought cooler weather to Tomball over the past few weeks, but most of the area is still expecting hot and humid weather.

Just when the weather is starting to cool down, a new wave of warm air is expected to move in. The National Weather Service predicts that temperatures will remain in the upper 80s through the end of the week.

The colder temperatures are welcome news for many people in Tomball. The recent heat wave has caused a increase in energy usage and has put a strain on the local power grid. The colder weather is expected to help ease the strain on the grid.

People should still be careful when spending time outside, as the sun is still strong and can cause sunburns and heat-related illnesses.

The fall season is known for its harvest festivals and other outdoor events. The Tomball Fall Festival is one of the most popular events of the season. It features a parade, live music, and other entertainment.

The National Weather Service is urging people to stay informed about the weather and to be prepared for any changes. They recommend checking the forecast regularly and being ready to take action if the weather changes.

Bulldogs secure victory in finale

By Ted Leach

The question of whether offensive or defensive players represented the Carthage defense was answered by Friday night's 43-14 win over Athens.

"They were outstanding defensively," said Leach. "They never let us get into a rhythm and they executed well.

"The defense was led by Chadwick and Bryant, who were outstanding. They made a lot of tackles and put a lot of pressure on the quarterback."
