Slagle surprises Demos

Some Texas Democratic leaders were surprised when they learned that they had lost their seats in Congress. The Democratic Party, under the leadership of Speaker of the House Jim Slagle, had expected to retain control of the House of Representatives. However, the Republican Party, led by House Majority Leader Tom Vilsack, won a majority of the seats in Congress.

Slagle, who has represented Texas in Congress for over 20 years, was shocked by the results. He had been re-elected to his seat in the 4th District of Texas with over 60% of the vote in 2008. He had been a strong supporter of the Democratic Party and had been a leader in the fight against Republican policies.

Despite the loss of their seats, many Democratic leaders expressed hope that they could regain control of Congress in the future. They believed that the public was dissatisfied with the Republican agenda and that the Democrats could win back seats in the 2010 midterm elections.

The loss of control of Congress was a blow to the Democratic Party, which had been in control of both houses of Congress since 2007. The Republicans now have the power to(pass laws, including legislation that could harm the interests of the Democratic Party.

Carthage falls to Woodlawn
Tech turns tide

By TED LEACH
Carthage coach Scott Zinman is not a man who will admit defeat publicly.
He was not willing to say that Carthage lost to Woodlawn, but rather that "we just didn't play well today." ... Zinman said that the team was ready for Woodlawn, but that the players just didn't deliver on the court.

"We lost the ball too many times and didn't make enough shots," Zinman said. "We just didn't play well, and Woodlawn played better than we did.
We lost 70-53.
