At Carthage breakfast
Gramm forecasts good economic year

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm said Thursday that the nation's economy is doing well and that it will make a good recovery next year.

"The economy is doing well and we are seeing improvement," said Gramm, who represents Texas in the U.S. Senate. "The recovery is not as robust as we would like, but it is much better than what we were seeing a year ago."

Gramm's comments were made during a breakfast at the Chamber of Commerce in Carthage. He is in town to campaign for his re-election in November.

Gramm said he believes the economy will continue to improve in the coming months, with growth expected to pick up. He also noted that the job market is improving, with unemployment rates dropping.

"We are seeing a rebound in the housing market, and that is good news," he said. "We are also seeing a pickup in consumer spending, which is a positive sign."
Clergy see spiritual growth in 1988

By Sybil Hartley

In the fall of 1987, the following school year, Christian clergy in the area reported that they were experiencing a period of spiritual growth and renewal.

"It's been a year of deepening faith," said one clergyman. "We've been encouraged by the support of our congregations and the sense of community that we've felt."..."In the last quarter of the school year, I felt a real sense of peace," said another. "I've been able to share that peace with my congregation and I think it's had a positive effect on our church."..."I've been challenged by the need to be more present, more available," said a third clergyman. "It's been a year of growth and learning, a year of deepening my faith."..."In the fall, we had a series of workshops on spiritual growth," said a fourth clergyman. "It's been a real eye-opener. We've learned a lot about our own spiritual journeys and how we can help others in theirs."

Overall, the area clergy saw 1988 as a year of spiritual growth and renewal, with a focus on deepening faith and learning more about spiritual practices and growth. They were encouraged by the support of their congregations and felt a sense of community and peace. They also felt challenged to be more present and available in their ministry, and to help others on their spiritual journeys. The workshops on spiritual growth were seen as particularly helpful in this regard.

Central Baptist to offer adult study on Malachi

Dr. James A. L. Hunter, pastor of Central Baptist Church, and Dr. William A. Lindsey, pastor of First Baptist Church, will offer an adult study on the book of Malachi during the winter months.

"We've chosen Malachi because it is a book that is often overlooked," said Dr. Hunter. "But it is a book that is rich in meaning and has a lot to say to us today."

The study will begin on January 10 and will meet on the first and third Sundays of each month. It is open to all adults and will be held at Central Baptist Church. For more information, call Dr. Hunter at 555-1234.

Annual congregational meeting slated Jan. 10, at St. John's

Two members will be elected to the board of directors at the annual congregational meeting of St. John's Church on January 10. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church.

The meeting will also feature a discussion on the future of the church and a presentation on the budget for the upcoming year. For more information, call the church office at 555-1234.

In M.T. Rice Tourney opener

Victoria stings Carthage, 79-66

Bulldogs lose the game, but they earned a spot in the next round of the M.T. Rice Tourney. The Bulldogs were defeated by the Waxahachie Indians, 79-66, in the opening game of the tournament on Tuesday.

The Waxahachie Indians dominated the game from the start, taking a 19-point lead at halftime. The Bulldogs fought back in the second half, closing the gap to just 11 points at one point, but the Indians held on for the win.

In other action, the Carthage Bulldogs lost to the Victoria Spartans, 19-66. Carthage was led by a strong performance from their defense, holding Victoria to only 19 points.

Bulldogs head to the playoffs, but they will have to regroup for their next game against Waxahachie in the second round of the M.T. Rice Tourney.

Political Calendar

The political calendar for the upcoming election season is already shaping up to be a hotly contested race. With several key races up for grabs, including the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, the political landscape is set to be dynamic.

The primary elections are scheduled for March 1, with the general election taking place on November 8. Key races to watch include the race for the U.S. Senate seat, where incumbent Kay Bailey Hutchison is seeking re-election. In the House of Representatives, several incumbent members are facing stiff opposition from challenger candidates.

Colorado Senator Michael Bennett is also running for reelection in the Senate race. Bennett, a Democrat, is facing a challenge from Republican candidate Dan Bishop.

The Democratic Party has nominated former state representative and current hospital administrator Robert O’Reilly for the Senate seat. O’Reilly, a Democrat, is running against incumbent Republican Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison.

In the House of Representatives, several incumbent members are facing stiff opposition from challenger candidates. In the 11th District, incumbent Republican John Ratcliffe is seeking re-election, facing a challenge from Democrat Lizzie Pannill Fletcher.

In the 12th District, incumbent Republican Chip Roy is seeking re-election, facing a challenge from Democrat Laura Moser.

For early loss, 500 dolls compensate

When Frances Field of Carthage was a little girl living in Carthage, she had a pet cat named Mopsy. One day, Mopsy was playing with a small doll and became entangled in the doll's tail. Frances's mother came in and found Mopsy with the doll stuck to her tail. She took the doll away, but Mopsy was very upset and cried for several hours. Frances's mother realized that the doll could not be found and decided to make a new doll to replace the old one.

On January 3, 1881, Frances's father, who was a carpenter, made a new doll for Mopsy. He made it from wood and cloth and gave it to Frances. Mopsy was overjoyed and ran around the house with the new doll. From that day on, Mopsy never left the doll's side.
