Overall crime figures show no jump in '87

By Sherilour Cribby Staff Writer

Carthage police broke up a major drug ring, confiscated over $30 million in illegal drugs and made 102 arrests in 1997.

According to Carthage Assistant Chief of Police Darrell Royse, overall the crime rate in the city is about the same as in 1996.

Royse said the drug cases made up over 90% of the drug cases.

"Through some training and re-evaluation," he explained, "we now know what to look for in a drug seller.

Local officers worked 37 cases of drug busting in 1997 which resulted in the arrest of 14 people and the seizing of 22 cases."

The largest drug bust made by a Carthage police officer was made by Officer Cal Mauzy when he discovered four pounds of cocaine at a residence, presumably $1 million on Sunday.

According to police reports, an officer stopped a 1975 Ford Fairlane at a major intersection.

"Well, we're trying to discourage drug use and see what we can do to cut down on that," Officer Royse explained.

He said he hoped the police would work to cut down on the drug busts.

The police department is now working to cut down on the number of drugs used in the city.

"In 1997, the equivalent of every man, woman and child in Texas consumed 800 pounds of drugs, compared to 75 pounds of drugs last year."

Police said that the police were getting more information on the drug trade.

PGH offers the community a wide variety of services

By Sandy Young

PGH offers a variety of services to the community, ranging from general medical care to specialized services.

When Ponce de Leon Hospital opened a new facility in 1999, the hospital began offering more comprehensive services to the community.

PGH offers a wide variety of services to local residents, including medical, dental and mental health services.

In addition, PGH offers a range of programs to meet the needs of local residents, such as health education programs, nutrition services and community outreach initiatives.

With this expanded service, PGH is better able to meet the needs of the community and improve the quality of life for local residents.

The hospital is committed to providing excellent care and meeting the needs of the community through its diverse range of services.

PGH has six technicians on staff in the lab.

PGH also has a staff of nurses and a full-time resident, which provides comprehensive health care services to the community.

As PGH continues to expand its services, it remains committed to providing excellent care and improving the health and well-being of the community.

Injury accident

The driver of the accident was at the intersection of Loop 493 and Lake Dolph Road. The site was shown by Richard Green, 87, of Del Rio, who was driving north on Loop 493 when he looked to his right and saw a car on the shoulder that appeared to be going his way. He swerved and then proceeded across the Loop in the path of the vehicle.

POLICE REPORT

Selinsgrove man arrested on drug charges
Carthage Police Officer Carl Maceo added one arrest to 50 pounds of marijuana to the record of a U.S. 39 drug smuggler who was arrested Monday night at 8:30 p.m. after being stopped by Officer Maceo at the intersection of Carriage Drive and Police Coroner Park.

A shot of marijuana was seized from the suspect, who was later identified as a 28-year-old man from Selinsgrove. He was transported to the Tioga County Jail after being served with a warrant.

A tip from a citizen led to the arrest, according to the police report. The suspect had been driving a silver sedan that was stopped by Officer Maceo for a traffic violation.

Police report

The weather in the Carthage area is expected to be mostly cloudy with a high of 70 degrees and a low of 45 degrees. The chance of precipitation is 10%. The wind will be from the west at 10 mph.

Beats Carthage girls by one
Palestine rocks 'Dogs' confidence

By T.J. LEACH

The Carthage girls weren't ready for Palestine to come in and take control.

In the first quarter, Julia Crawford scored with 5:46 remaining to put Carthage up, 11-6. In the second quarter, those were the only points scored by Carthage, as Palestine scored 14 points to go into halftime with a 15-point lead.

Carthage didn't score in the third quarter, and Palestine scored 18 points to take a 33-point lead into the fourth quarter.

Carthage didn't score in the final quarter either, and Palestine scored 19 points to seal the victory.

In the end, Palestine scored 60 points, while Carthage scored 22 points. Julia Crawford led Palestine with 11 points, while Carthage's leading scorer was Leslie Smith with 6 points.

Carthage girls in rare loss at Palestine

Carthage girls' junior varsity lost their first game of the year on Friday night.

The game was close throughout, with Palestine leading by only 1 point at the half.

In the third quarter, Palestine pulled away to lead by 9 points before Carthage came back to tie it up in the final minutes.

However, Palestine scored a basket with 2 seconds left to win the game, 52-49.

Carthage girls post 18th victory

The Palestine girls varsity volleyball team won their 18th straight game on Tuesday afternoon.

The game was against the Carthage Lady Brahmas, and Palestine won in straight sets, 25-15, 25-12, 25-16.

The Lady Brahmas were able to get the lead early and never let it go, eventually winning all three sets.

Pups B wins

The Palestine Pups boys basketball team won their 12th straight game on Tuesday evening.

They faced off against the Carthage Bulldogs, and despite a strong performance from the Bulldogs, the Pups were able to pull away and win the game, 65-52.

It was the Pups' 12th straight victory, and they are now 14-2 on the season.

Smiling only part of mayor's job

By Dorothy Keene

Dr. John C. Jones, mayor of Carthage, Texas, is known for his many civic activities and volunteer work. Dr. Jones is a family physician and serves as a volunteer in many community organizations. He is also involved in local politics and is a member of the City Council.

Dr. Jones runs for office for an assortment of causes. Origins and is often quoted on what he regards as the job and what is not. As mayor, he has identified programs that need to be cut, such as the Parks and Recreation Department. Of course the job is one for which you have to be qualified, but there is no paycheck check. The mayor has to be willing to work for free, and he is.

I always try to let people know where I stand on an issue, but I also try to stay open to public opinion. -Dr. Jones

Cook enjoys making things pretty

Mary Shivers finds cooking a privilege, not a chore

"I'm happy with what I'm doing," says Shivers, "and I feel that my meals are a reflection of my personality."

Shivers, a native of Texas, grew up in a family that valued cooking. Her mother, grandmother, and aunt were all skilled cooks, and Shivers learned to love the art of cooking from them.

Shivers credits her love of cooking to her mother, who taught her how to prepare simple recipes from scratch. "I learned to cook by watching my mother in the kitchen," she says. "She taught me how to make classic Southern dishes, like macaroni and cheese and fried chicken."

Shivers continues to cook for her family and friends, and she has become known for her creative and delicious meals. "I enjoy experimenting with new ingredients and flavors," she says. "I like to find ways to make traditional Southern dishes even more delicious."

Shivers' love of cooking has taken her all over the world. She has traveled to Italy, France, and Spain, and she has learned to cook many new dishes along the way. "I love trying new recipes and learning about different cooking techniques," she says. "Cooking is a way to explore new cultures and tastes."

Shivers' meals are not just about the food, but also about the presentation. She takes pride in the way she serves her dishes, and she enjoys finding ways to make each meal look as beautiful as it tastes.

"I like to make each meal a special occasion," she says. "I enjoy creating a warm and inviting atmosphere, and I think that's what makes my meals so special."

Shivers' dedication to cooking has earned her a reputation as a skilled and creative chef. "I'm very honored to be able to share my love of cooking with others," she says. "I hope that my meals bring joy to those who enjoy them."
