High danger of grass fires posted

By Sherell Culver Staff Writer

Due to the low humidity and high-wind, the Texas Forest Service has issued a "danger" alert effective immediately, according to District Ranger John Hilde."The weather conditions and low humidity mean those who are eager to set fires will get a quick start and clean dry fuels to the ground and brush and wind will help keep conditions are better, if not, the "smoke" lane for jumping, during burning, and will help keep the fire, smoke especially, from burning higher," Hilde said.

Hilde recommends that all residents keep doors and windows closed when fire is burning in the area and the smoke is higher.

Only 62 showed interest

By Sherell Culver Staff Writer

For the second time in as many years, the idea of a member-owned country club failed to attract as it did last year, with only 62 people showing an interest in the project by the end of December. The hope was that more would need to be built to complete the purchase price.

"We didn't have enough members this year to do it," said owner Jack Robinson. He said the idea of a member-owned country club originated in September of 2006 when the town of Stevens was approached by the Carriage County Club to see if the area might be interested in having the facility. The first group went with the idea of the 150 members, with the hopes of having 150 members before the first group left New York on the group decision for a $300 membership fee with 150 participants.

When Stevens and his group formed, they were able to go the project with enough money to make the improvements within the club. Such improvements include updating the club, and the new board is doing its best to operate under the board of education and the leadership.

Local patients can get heart, lung care here

By Sandy Young Staff Writer

For the second time in as many years, the idea of a member-owned country club is failing to draw enough interest. A series of services offered by the hospital in Carriage have drawn interest in the idea, with over 60 showing interest.

While the hospital provides a variety of heart and lung care, it also provides services in need of assistance.

Members of the Carriage County Medical and Physical Therapy Department at PCHU dealt with a large number of patients on the county as well as rural areas.

The Carriage County Medical Department offers a wide range of services, including emergency care, imaging, and rehabilitation.

Cardiovascular testing is used to detect heart abnormalities. It is done in the hospital, and the test is done to determine if any heart abnormalities are present.

A study performed in the hospital is a pulmonary function test. This test, according to Feltman, is used to detect heart and lung diseases. The test is done to determine if any heart abnormalities are present.

Respiratory Therapy is the second service of this department. Feltman said about 50 percent of their treatments are done in an inpatient basis.

Respiratory therapists treat patients with asthma, bronchial asthma, and emphysema, among other disorders.

"It's a very important part of the hospital and the services that we provide," said Feltman. "It's a very important part of the hospital and the services that we provide."
Children with IRA's don't scare easily

Why do people have children?

The second page of this month's magazine was a story about children with IRA's. It is interesting to note that the word IRA is used to describe both children and adults who have had a medical condition that affects their ability to complete an activity. The word IRA is also used to describe the medical condition itself. However, it is important to note that not all children with IRA's will need assistance in completing an activity.

The story also mentioned that children with IRA's may be more likely to develop a sense of purpose and to be more independent than children without IRA's. This is supported by a study published in the Journal of Developmental and Behavioral Pediatrics, which found that children with IRA's were more likely to have a sense of purpose and to be more independent than children without IRA's.

Ponies find new offense
Panola arrests

Rangers, 78-75

By TED LEACH

Missy Carter made 18 points in the Ponies’ victory over the Lady Res-I-sons, but it was made easy for her.

The Ponies’ defense was excellent.

"I think we did a good job of getting the ball to her," said Tanya
Nelson, who scored six points.

Robinson had troubles for most of the game when the Lady Res-I-sons made a 20-2 run in the third period. When Robinson had to start shooting, the Lady Res-I-sons were able to get the ball out of her hands and hit her with two fouls.

"I think we did a good job of hit-
ing her with fouls," said Nelson.

Panola dominated the second half and ended up winning 78-75

TEC games, leaving its playoff chances hanging in the balance.

"I think we did a good job of hit-
ing her with fouls," said Nelson.

Charles (28), who only scored two points in the game, broke up the 20-2 run and scored six points in the final quarter.

"I think we did a good job of hit-
ing her with fouls," said Nelson.

Derek Austin’s three-point shot in the final quarter gave Panola the win.

"I think we did a good job of hit-
ing her with fouls," said Nelson.

Gary boys crush Laneville, 70-59

Three in double figures for Cats

Gary — Steven Smith and Jordan Smith each scored 17 points, and Jayden Johnson added 13 as the Gary boys basketball team dominated Laneville, 70-59, Tuesday in the second round of the 8A-District 1 tournament.

The victory, Gary's sixth in its last seven games, moves the Cats into the semifinals of the tournament, where they will face the winner of the game between Harrisburg and Birdsong. The games are set for 6 p.m. Thursday, also at Gary.

"We had the ball and we played better defense than we did in the first game," Gary head coach Tim Good said. "We got to the free-throw line, made our free throws and played better defense. We had a lot of help from our bench."

The Cats got off to a quick start, outscoring Laneville, 17-5, in the first quarter. Gary was able to keep its lead for the rest of the game, leading by double digits for most of the way.

Johnson said the team's chemistry was key to the victory.

"We're coming together as a team," he said. "We're hungry. We're playing with a lot of confidence."

Gary took an early lead on a 3-pointer by Jordan Smith, and Laneville was never able to catch up. The Cats led by as much as 24 points in the first half and maintained a double-digit lead throughout the final 16 minutes.

Gary's defense was also a key factor in the victory. The Cats held Laneville to just 19 points in the second half, and the defense forced 12 turnovers.

"Our defense was key," Good said. "We forced a lot of turnovers and we made them shoot the ball from a distance."

Smith said the Cats' defense was key to the victory.

"We played great defense," he said. "We've been playing good defense all year."

The Cats led 33-20 at halftime and extended their lead to 58-39 after three quarters. Gary outscored Laneville, 32-26, in the final quarter.

Laneville's leading scorer was Kaden Mitchell with 10 points, while Gabe Morris added 8 points. The Bulldogs shot just 30 percent from the field and were 4-of-19 from 3-point range.

Gary will face either Harrisburg or Birdsong in the semifinals on Thursday. The Cats are looking to make a deep run in the tournament.

Good said he's excited for the semifinal round.

"We're happy to be here," he said. "We're looking forward to the semifinals."

Strength For Living

BY JERRY BURDINE

A postcard for a happy life is to eat healthily and to maintain a healthy body. Eating a healthy diet can prevent many diseases and prolong life. A well-balanced diet should include a variety of fruits, vegetables, whole grains, lean protein, and healthy fats. A few minutes a day spent getting regular exercise can also help maintain a healthy body. A healthy body allows us to live a happy life.

Presentation of the Lord to be observed Tuesday

Children are the future of the church, and a special ceremony will be held on Tuesday to celebrate the presentation of the Lord. The event will be attended by church leaders and members.

Columnist analyzes complex economic problems with ease

For years, I have been interested in the relationship between the stock market and the economy. I believe that the two are closely linked, and that an understanding of this relationship can help us make better investment decisions.

This is because the stock market is driven by the expectations of investors, which in turn are influenced by the current state of the economy. When the economy is strong, investors tend to be optimistic, which leads to higher stock prices. Conversely, when the economy is weak, investors tend to be more cautious, which leads to lower stock prices.

However, it is not always easy to determine the relationship between the stock market and the economy. There are many factors that can affect both, and it is difficult to isolate the specific impact of each.

That is why I have been studying the relationship between the stock market and the economy for many years. I believe that this understanding can help us make better investment decisions.
