A 28-year-old Panoza County man was killed in a two-car accident Thursday evening on the town's Main Street, police said. The man was the driver of one of the cars and a passenger of the other. The accident occurred at the intersection of Main and Oak streets.

According to the police report, the driver of the car that was struck was a 25-year-old man from Santa Clara. He was pronounced dead at the scene. The driver of the other car, a 24-year-old woman from Panoza, was taken to the hospital with minor injuries. The cause of the accident is under investigation.

In other news, the Panoza County Post reported that the town council has approved a new budget for the coming fiscal year. The budget includes funding for road repairs, police and fire department salaries, and community services.

Papers, Astronomical world joins in awe

John Coleman
Post News Editor

Astronomy enthusiasts flocked to the Panoza County Post office on Saturday night to hear a presentation by Dr. James Smith, one of the world's leading experts on the study of the universe. Smith, who is known for his groundbreaking research on the origins of the universe, spoke about his latest findings and answered questions from the audience.

Smith began his presentation by discussing the latest developments in the field of astronomy. He explained that recent discoveries have paved the way for a better understanding of the universe's history and its mysteries. Smith then focused on his own research, which has focused on the origins of the universe.

"We've made significant progress in understanding the universe's history," Smith said. "But there's still so much we don't know. That's what makes astronomy so exciting."

Smith's presentation was met with great enthusiasm from the audience, who were eager to learn more about the mysteries of the universe. The event was a great success, and the Panoza County Post plans to host more astronomy-related events in the future.
Reagan embarrassed by Noriega plan

By Alan Miller's T-WHEELER

Washington, D.C. — The Reagan administration was facing a major embarrassment Tuesday as details of a secret plan to oust Panama's Gen. Manuel Noriega by a U.S. special forces unit began to reveal themselves.

The plan, known as Operation Just Cause, was designed to remove Noriega from power and install a civilian government in Panama. But the operation, which began on December 20, 1989, has already faced several setbacks and has been met with criticism from both the United Nations and the Panamanian government.

The administration had been under pressure to make the details of the plan public, but has so far refused to do so. However, leaks from sources familiar with the operation have revealed that the plan involved a U.S. special forces unit, known as the Special Forces Group, which was to conduct a series of military operations in Panama.

The operation was code-named Operation Just Cause because it was designed to oust Noriega, who had been accused of drug trafficking and other crimes.

The plan was developed by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and was approved by President Reagan and members of his national security team. However, the operation was met with criticism from both the United Nations and the Panamanian government.

The operation was carried out by a U.S. special forces unit, known as the Special Forces Group, which was to conduct a series of military operations in Panama. The operation was code-named Operation Just Cause because it was designed to oust Noriega, who had been accused of drug trafficking and other crimes.

The plan was approved by President Reagan and members of his national security team. However, the operation was met with criticism from both the United Nations and the Panamanian government.

Prime Minister Michael Barrow of Belize, who is a close friend of Panamanian President Jose Luis Soberon, said that he was unaware of the operation and that he had not been consulted.

"We were not informed of this operation," Barrow said. "We were not even consulted. This is a matter of national security and it is a matter that should be handled by the Panamanian government."

We deliver a lot more than just NEWSPAPERS

Some publications only think about circulation simply as "numbers." To us, circulation means people! For these very important people, we deliver the local news and keep them informed about all the things that affect their lives and their future.

We provide them with meaningful features. We amuse them and amaze them, we make them laugh and sometimes we make them cry. We make them think and act. We tell them where the best buys can be found through the ads and we help them sell all kinds of goods and services. We deliver a lot more than just newspapers.

Coping with the weekday evening

by Jennie Whitaker

For working parents, finding time to be with the kids can be a challenge. Some parents are finding new ways to make it work.

Whitaker, who lives in Carthage, Texas, and her husband, John, have two children, ages 4 and 7. They both work full-time jobs and have busy schedules.

"We try to prioritize family time as much as possible," Whitaker said. "It's important to us to make time to be with our children and enjoy each other's company.

"We make sure to schedule time for family activities and outings, whether it's going to the park or just playing games at home. I think it's important for kids to see that their parents value their time with them.

"It can be tough sometimes, but I think it's worth it in the end. It helps to keep everyone happy and healthy.

Whitaker-Morgan rite set Sept. 3 at Rehobeth

United Methodist Church, Friends of the Carthage Public Library, and Friends of Rehobeth Community Center will celebrate "Whitaker-Morgan Rite" on Sept. 3 at Rehobeth.

Angela Eaves will wed Edward Hurst June 18

Dressy attire will be the norm for the Eaves-Hurst wedding, which is scheduled for June 18.

"We're planning a traditional ceremony and reception," the bride-to-be said. "We want it to be elegant and sophisticated."

"I'm looking forward to the wedding weekend," the groom said. "I can't wait to see Angela in her dress and walk down the aisle with her.

"We're planning a lot of fun activities for our guests, too," he added. "We want everyone to have a great time.

Upset comparable to dawn of civilization held doubtful

"I don't think it's comparable," the professor said. "The dawn of civilization was a much more significant event.

"I think the great event is comparable to the dawn of civilization," the professor said. "It's a significant event that changed the course of human history.

"It's hard to say which is more important," the professor added. "They both had a lasting impact on the world."
