Widening of US 79 encouraged

Watchman Staff Report

Widening of US 79 has been forced to wait, with the backing of the group that opposes widening the highway along the entire corridor.

The widening of US 79, which runs through the city of College Station, Texas, is facing opposition from the College Station and Pasadena Community. The group, known as the "No-Pass 79," opposes the widening of the highway.

This opposition is being led by Dr. John Johnson, a local attorney, who has been a vocal opponent of the widening project. Johnson has been active in the group since its inception and has been a key figure in the group's efforts to halt the widening of US 79.

Johnson has been a vocal opponent of the widening of US 79, and has been a key figure in the group's efforts to halt the widening of the highway.

The group's main concern is that the widening of US 79 will result in the loss of many homes and businesses along the corridor, and will also result in the loss of many trees and plants.

Luggage and owners finally reunite

Alan Miller's T-WHEELER

There were tears of joy and hugs of relief as the last of the luggage was reunited with its owners last week in a heartwarming story of lost property.

A Bombardier Aerospace employee was returning to his company's hangar when a suitcase was left behind. The employee immediately notified airport authorities, who launched a thorough search.

As luck would have it, a passenger who had just arrived heard the story and instinctively reached out to help. The two worked tirelessly to locate the owners of the luggage, which had been mistakenly placed in a different car.

In a moving ceremony, the owner was reunited with their luggage, which had been safely stored and returned to them. The owner expressed immense gratitude to the employee and the passenger for their kind efforts.

The event was captured on video and shared widely on social media, inspiring many to share their own stories of lost luggage and the kindness of strangers.

PERSPECTIVES

Washington Watch By Sen. Lloyd Bentsen

Bentsen calls for drug czar

WASHINGTON—Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Democrat from Texas, has called for the appointment of a drug czar to oversee the nation's drug policy.

In a letter to the White House, Bentsen wrote, "The drug epidemic is a crisis that demands immediate action. The country needs a single, powerful figure with the authority to coordinate efforts at all levels of government and with international partners to combat this scourge."

Bentsen noted that the current system of drug policy is fragmented and ineffective, with various agencies and departments operating in isolation from one another.

He added, "A drug czar would have the power to make strategic decisions, allocate resources, and hold individuals and agencies accountable for their actions. This is necessary to effectively address the complex and multifaceted nature of the drug problem."
Financial Focus

Concern when investing

Peter Schott, 39, retired as an employee of the U.S. Postal Service, is planning to invest $10,000 in stocks. He is considering buying 100 shares of General Electric stock at $50 per share. Mr. Schott has not purchased stocks before and is concerned about the potential risks. He wants to know if buying 100 shares of GE stock is a good investment.

Revitalized Beckville is Mary Shivers’ dream

By Dorothy Henshaw

Beckville, Texas

Mary Shivers is on a mission to revitalize her hometown. Under her leadership, the Beckville Community Center has become a hub of activity, offering everything from community meals to programs for children and seniors.

Her vision is to make Beckville a place where people want to come and stay. "It’s about bringing people together and building community," she says.

Mary Shivers grew up in Beckville and has a deep connection to the town. "I’m part of the fabric of this community," she says. "I want to make sure that it continues to be a place where people want to live.

The Community Center is the heart of the operation. It hosts everything from basketball games to potluck dinners. Mary Shivers is always on the go, running the center and planning new events.

"It’s not just about the center," she says. "It’s about the community, and that’s what makes it special.

Mary Shivers picks up trash that rains beauty of wildflowers along Beckville roadside.

Mary Shivers learns to read and write from the periwinkle and marigold flowers, which she says are important because they are both beautiful and edible.

Mary Shivers is a strong reader and a good writer. She is always on the lookout for new books and articles to read.

"I read a lot," she says. "It’s a great way to keep learning and growing.

Mary Shivers is a good friend and a great neighbor. She always has a smile on her face and a kind word to say.

Mary Shivers is a great role model for the community. She is always willing to help others and to share her knowledge and skills.

Mary Shivers is a shining example of what it means to be a good citizen and a good neighbor.

Summer reading program to begin Friday at library

College Station, Texas

The College Station Public Library will kick off its annual summer reading program on Friday. The program, called "Happy Days Reading," is designed to encourage children to read during the summer months.

"We want to make sure that kids are engaged in reading during the summer," said Library Director Martha Sandoval. "Reading is an important skill that kids need to develop,

The program will run from June 1 to August 14. Kids can pick up a reading log at the library and read books of their choice. Each completed log will earn them a prize.

"Kids will have fun reading and learning," said Sandoval. "We want to make sure that they have a great summer.

The library will also have special events throughout the summer, including storytimes, crafts, and games.

"We want to make sure that kids have fun while they read," said Sandoval.

Measure of cookbook treasures is demand

By Dorothy Hecks

Coral of other, haven't worn the same,jacket, Genoa, said of what they owned how the others had in mind.

The book's good edition. It's the real deal, it's not that you don't need it. There are a lot of people that care about these books because they are a good source of history, they are not just cookbooks, they are a part of the history of the place.

A quick check of a table of recipes--not inciting, I just can't get in there, I don't know how to do it. I can't get it right. It's just a good, old country cooking.

It's a good basic cookbook, one of the only works I've tried quite a few of the recipes, it's just grand, old country cooking.

She's trying to do it in a simple way, but it's a good way to make. She's trying to do it in a way that's not too difficult.

The book is a good foundation, the best way to start. It's a good, good book.

My mom's mom was from Texas, and she was a good cook, she was a good, good cook.
