Wreckage in the woods

Panola County mourns five lost in crash

Unanswered questions surround tragedy

By Bill Martin

The plane crash that claimed the lives of five people in the woods near Carthage, Texas, was a tragedy that left many unanswered questions.

The Piper Seneca II that went down in a densely wooded area about two miles south of Carthage's Shreve Field Airport, about 200 yards west of the woods, crashed in the early morning hours on Thursday, October 10. The victims included a mother and her two sons, a father, and a friend of the family.

The National Transportation Safety Board is investigating the crash. A preliminary report is expected to be released within a few weeks.

On Anna Apple:

(Shew was) very outgoing and caring.

On Christene Bell: She was a very special person who had a lot of love to give to others.

On Marcus Butler: He was a good person and an excellent pilot.

By Christie Goodson

On Ana Apple: She was a leader and a friend to many.

On Don Griffith: He did so much for so many people, and a lot of things he did people don’t realize. When he did something, he made sure that people knew about it.

By Christie Goodson

On Linda Griffith: She was a chief supporter of the Bulldogs. She was very involved in the school activities.

On Don Griffith: The pilot of the plane that crashed, Don Griffith, was very involved in the community and a leader in the United Methodist Church.

On Don Griffith: He was a pilot who had a passion for aviation.

The crash occurred about 200 yards west of Shreve Field Airport.

Crisis communications are essential in times of tragedy.

When disaster strikes, whether it’s a plane crash or another event, effective communication can help calm people and provide information.

Shane Craig: I’m a flight instructor and I was there.

I was there when the plane went down. It was a dark and stormy night, and the pilot was trying to land.

I think the pilot was probably trying to make a landing.

I saw the plane come down and then it went off the runway.

I didn’t see anything else happen.

What Bullock didn’t say

The state’s fiscal year ended Aug. 31, and Comptroller Bob Bullock says state’s revenues climbed to $170.2 billion, an increase of $8.8 billion over the previous fiscal year. Bullock also said that state’s spending increased to $174.7 billion, an increase of $8.8 billion. The deficit was $5.5 billion, which is $3.2 billion less than last year.

PERSPECTIVES

Ghost lingers on in Mt. Lebanon

Mount Lebanon, in the depths of winter, is a dark and foreboding place. The town is known for its steep, winding roads, and its history of murder and death. In the 1970s, a young woman was found dead in the woods near the town. The police search for clues, but the case remains unsolved. Some say that the ghost of the young woman still haunts the town.

How about the death needs to be considered? Because if it was a murder, what if the body was hidden? If it was a suicide, maybe someone was trying to leave a clue. Or if it was an accident, was it really an accident?

I don’t know. But I do know that the police put a lot of time and effort into this case.

The murder was solved, and the young woman’s body was found buried in the woods. The police had a lot of help from the community. They even set up a reward for anyone who could help solve the case.

YARD OF THE MONTH

Restored vision leads Cultum to love of growing things

Yard bears witness to miracle of new sight

In what was, for many years, a vast area of concrete, an unkempt lawn, and a generally overgrown yard, Cultum's vision has now been restored. The once neglected area has transformed into a lush and vibrant garden, thanks to the hard work and dedication of the homeowner, Cultum. The garden has become a testament to the power of growth and renewal.

The transformation began when Cultum decided to take on the task of reviving the yard. With a passion for gardening, Cultum spent countless hours tending to the plants, pruning the trees, and planting new flowers. The results were nothing short of miraculous.

"I remember when I first started working on the yard," said Cultum. "It was a mess. There was nothing to see but concrete and weeds. But I knew in my heart that I could make it beautiful."

And make it beautiful he did. The garden now features a variety of colorful flowers, from bright red roses to delicate white lilies. The trees are lush and healthy, casting shade over the lawn below. The yard is no longer a place of neglect, but a place of beauty and serenity.

"I feel like I've accomplished something special," said Cultum. "It's not just about the yard, it's about restoring my own sense of self-worth."

With Cultum's vision restored, the yard has become a source of pride for both the homeowner and the neighborhood. It serves as a reminder of the power of hard work and dedication, and the beauty that can come from it.

"I'm so grateful for what I've accomplished," said Cultum. "I never thought I'd be able to do it, but I did. And it feels great."

There's action in the air at Disney World and cruising around the pavement the package tour... assistant

The following day was a real world, outside the theme park.

The weather was perfect and the setting was beautiful. The sun shone bright and the sky was blue. The air was fresh and clean. The people were all dressed in their best outfits and the atmosphere was vibrant and exciting.

But the main event of the day was the soccer game. The players were incredibly skilled and the game was fast-paced and intense. The spectators were cheering loudly and the energy in the stadium was electric.

The team that won the game was the one that played the best. The players were determined and focused on winning. The crowd was cheering and applauding as the winning team celebrated their victory.

After the game, the players were interviewed by a local sports news team. They were asked about their experience and their thoughts on the game. They were all very happy and excited to have played in such an incredible venue.

Overall, it was a fantastic day at Disney World and the soccer game was the highlight of the day. The atmosphere was electric and the competition was fierce. The players and spectators were all thrilled to be part of such an incredible event.

Graves, Bolton reverse roles in opener

By TED JUNGH

Dennie Graves was one of the stars of the 1987 season as both a quarterback and running back, but this year as a senior, he is content to play a support role for freshman quarterback Lanford Bolton.

"He’s our quarterback," Graves said. "We’ve tried to get him more playing time. He’s a good athlete, and he’s got a lot of potential."

Bolton, a 5-foot-11, 200-pounder, has thrown for 241 yards in two games, including a 182-yard effort against Van.

"I’ve been happy with him," said coach Joe Alexander. "He’s matured a lot since last year."

Bolton, who was injured in last year’s loss to Damaron, had a chance to get some practice time during the game against Van, but the lead was never in doubt. Bolton completed 10 of 13 passes for 182 yards and three touchdowns.

"He’s a good passer," Graves said. "He’s worked hard with his receiver."

The Bobcats, who are 1-1 after losing to Damaron, will have to continue to rely on their defense in future games.

"We’ve got to work on our defense," said Alexander. "We’ve got a lot of new faces up front."

Defensive end Charles Williams had six tackles, including one for loss, in the 38-0 win over Van. He also had three assists.

"He’s a good player," Alexander said. "He’s quick and strong."

Williams, who also plays tight end, had six catches for 48 yards and a touchdown in the 28-24 loss to Damaron.

"I’m not too happy with the way our defense is playing," said Graves. "We’ve got to improve."

He added: "I’m not too happy with the way our offense is playing, either. We’ve got to improve."
