"Dukakis caravan' comes to Carthage

Selling the Duke to 'Bubba'

By Phil Meritt
Watchman Editor

With 42 days left to go until election day, Texas has become one of the most intense battlegrounds in the nation. Democratic Governor Michael Dukakis is in Texas for the White House. During an interview in the Houston office Tuesday morning, Dukakis reached the answer to Texas. Dukakis, declaring that the state needs to avoid a miracle in the upcoming presidential election

I think 'Bubba' is testing to see if they lose to — Bush is running what they used to call a - Mushroom campaign — that's when you keep the voices in the dark and throw maneuvers on them.

— John Sharp

and "if that's the case, then it's OK to kick Texas in the teeth and then send George Bush back to Washington."

— a note in the forthcoming election letter to Republicans in Texas in 1982 to Dwight and Bush. Sharp said "They know they can do anything they want, they will win in Texas, we will vote Republican forever."

The state's chart for the Dukakis/Bush campaign, was in sharp contrast to the turnout of a "surprise" through Texas, forcing county southwest and Democratic headquarters throughout the area.

"Dukakis has picked this area be-

- for a campaign stop in LaGrange, and for a "run-campaign" ap-

- In response to Kunz to comment on the direction of the U.S. miliattry, "...it's a time for a change," Sharp said.

"And Bush has been talking about the dangers of weapons," Sharp said. "What's he not saying is that the peace will have more armed, black, white, green, blue, pink, and multicolored weapons."

"...If this is what Bush wants, they're doing it in Virginia."

Volunteers help 'paint the town'

By Betty Young
Field and Farm

For many years, Saturday is a day of rest and relaxation, a day to shop with family and friends, a day to spend with family and friends, a day to spend with family and friends.

Last weekend, some fifty

Tea volunteers from Texas Utilities Mining Co., and TU Electric, gave their volunteers to scrap, and do no work at the annual Evelyn Gulley in Carthage, known as the "Scrap the Town" program which began in May with a house in Hendrickson.

Joe Hedley, community affairs representative for Texas Utilities, in her speech, made an appeal to all people who were unable to participate in the project and wanted an opportunity to be a part of the "Scrap the Town" program.

People who came to work were volunteers.

"You are here in the dark,
...the lights that it will be a nice thing to do," she said.

"If you think that the project is big enough, there is no need to do anything," she said.

"Scrap the Town" was organized by the Hendrickson Chamber of Commerce and the Hendrickson Volunteer Center.

"Gloria, head of the local volunteer center, donated cinnamon rolls and coffee to the people who worked on the project."

"We didn't have that many volunteers, but we did have some," she said.

"Our project is to work on the project because we want to do something," she said.

"Your help is needed," she said.

Charged with burglaries and thefts
Sheriff's officers arrest five

Oscar Ramirez, age 19, 1613 North St., and Michael Maxwell, age 18, 1204 West Butler, have been arrested by Sheriff's officers on charges of burglary and theft. Ramirez and Maxwell are accused of breaking into a home on West Butler and stealing a television set and jewelry. They were later seen on video surveillance leaving the scene of the crime. The two were arrested and are currently being held at the county jail.

Beckville council approves budget, raises tax rate

Beckville city officials have approved the budget for the upcoming fiscal year and have raised the tax rate by 2.5 cents. The budget includes funds for maintenance, police, fire, and road projects. The tax rate increase is expected to generate an additional $100,000 in revenue. Residents have been informed of the increase and are expected to see a higher property tax bill this year.

Olympic gold

Seeing up the Olympic spirit, students at Carthage's Tokyo School are holding a competition to design and build a model of an Olympic gold medal. The winners will be announced tomorrow morning. The event is part of the school's efforts to encourage students to participate in physical activities and to promote a healthy lifestyle.

Is NASA ignoring the lessons of the Challenger?

Some people will say it's safe. Some people will say it's not. But new evidence suggests that NASA is not doing enough to prevent accidents. This is a tragic lesson that must be learned.

On the ground where the Challenger exploded, there were no signs of human error or mechanical failure. The rocket was supposed to be launched on schedule, but it was delayed due to bad weather conditions.

NASA has made the claim that the rocket was designed to handle any kind of weather. This is a promise that was never kept. The rocket was designed to fly in the worst of conditions, but it failed in the best.

The event was actually supported by the Department of Defense, who have been using NASA's technology to support their own war efforts. The launch was planned for weeks in advance.

The people who were killed in the explosion were all from the same family. Their names were never even mentioned by NASA. The families are still waiting for answers.

PERSPECTIVES

EDITORIALS

For the Super Collider

This week, Texas had its last chance to try to persuade the Department of Energy to abandon its plans to build a huge particle accelerator near Austin. This would have been the largest and most expensive project ever undertaken by the United States, and it would have transformed the state into a world leader in particle physics.

But it didn't happen. The Department of Energy has approved the project, and construction is due to start within the next year.

The decision was made after a long and contentious debate. The Super Collider was supported by many scientists and educators, who argued that it would bring new knowledge to the world. But it was also opposed by many environmentalists and others who argued that it would be a waste of money.

In the end, the decision was made by the Department of Energy, which is responsible for the nation's energy policy. The decision was also influenced by a group of influential politicians who supported the project.

This is a sad day for science and education. The Super Collider was a chance to explore the mysteries of the universe, and it was a chance to bring new knowledge to the world. But it's a chance that we may never have again.

Social Security News

By Kay McAlpin

Social Security benefits are determined by a formula that takes into account the individual’s earnings, age, and work history. The formula varies depending on the year of the individual’s birth, and the benefits are subject to a maximum amount that is adjusted each year. For 2022, the maximum benefit is $3,417 per month. The benefits are payable to the individual, their spouse, and their children if they meet certain eligibility requirements.

Back-to-baking time comes with new pecan crop

Bumper pecan crop rates recipe bonanza

By Carol Walls

When the 100-year-old pecan trees at the walls of the Walls warehouses in the Panola area bear their harvest, the Wall family of Vidor and their many neighbors go into recipe-making mode. This year's bumper crop means plenty of pecan recipes for the Walls family and their neighbors.

The Walls family has been baking pecan pies for many years, using the pecans from their own trees. This year, they are sharing their recipes with others in the Panola area.

The pecan recipe book is available at the Walls warehouses in Vidor.

Are you happy with the hot, fat and dry soil? Some rain would be highly appreciated. Ron wallace said he never worried about it rising because he knew it would rain eventually on Sunday morning. If it is a surprise on Sunday morning, it will surprise her daughter, Lee Memphis of Freesport. When they were out of Freesport, due to the storm, they packed their things and headed for Camp Mckinney. This was on Thursday, they were going to go home anytime. At 9 am they packed and went, and they were ready and they didn't want to get rain. They had breakfast as they did and then, on Sunday, they planned to take the kids in the car because there was another storm blowing in.

The wedding of Ron and Nancy was on Saturday. In honor of Mrs. Ms. Wallace, she was 45 years old this birthday, she invited all of her friends. She was 45 years old. This birthday was a special one.
