Kids and bullfrogs come with territory

By TULIA ROGGE

I have been called to help with a problem, and the problem is bullfrogs. Every time we move, people say, "Oh, you'll have to get rid of all that stuff," and I say, "Well, I don't think I can do that." But bullfrogs are a different story. They are everywhere. They jump out of the water and onto my car, they run through the house, they climb up the walls, and they are everywhere.

I decided to take matters into my own hands. I went out with a bucket and a net, and I started catching them. It was a lot of work, but I managed to get a good number of them. I then released them into the nearest lake, which was a big lake. They seemed happy to be out of the house.

I learned a few things from this experience. First, bullfrogs are very adaptable. They can live in almost any kind of water, from ponds to lakes to rivers. Second, they are very territorial. They will defend their territory against any other bullfrogs that try to get in.

Overall, it was a challenging experience, but I am glad I did it. I feel better knowing that the bullfrogs are back where they belong, living their lives in the wild. I am just happy that I was able to help them.

Ladies pose with gallant Honey Grove defender

Carthage belles brave battlefield dangers

By JORDAN RENAS

I am a proud resident of Carthage, and I am happy to announce that our ladies have once again proven themselves to be brave and bold on the battlefield.

Our beloved Honey Grove has always been a source of pride for our community, and we are grateful for the service of our gallant defenders. These ladies have shown that they are not afraid to face any challenge, no matter how difficult.

I am particularly proud of Claire Hughes and Sherry Davis, who have worked tirelessly to make our community a better place. Their hard work and dedication have not gone unnoticed, and we owe them a debt of gratitude.

I wish to extend my congratulations and support to all of our brave defenders. Thank you for your service, and may you continue to be a shining example of what it means to be a lady in Carthage.

Dogs study alternatives

By TED LEACH

Dogs at nearby Star Grocery were observed mining for a new line of dog biscuits. They were exploring the store, sniffing around the bins and checking the shelves in search of a new treat.

One dog, a pug named Spot, said, "I've been looking for a new snack. These treats are getting old. I think I found a new line at Star Grocery."

Another dog, a dachshund named Squeak, added, "I heard there's a new type of treat at the store. I'm going to check it out."

The dogs said they were excited to try the new snacks and hoped they would like them better than their current treats. They planned to report back on their findings at their next meeting.

Cats find way to win

The Panthers' latest attempt to reach the playoffs was met with a strong challenge from the rival Spartans. The Panthers' defense was able to shut down the Spartans' offense, holding them to just 10 points in the game.

The Panthers' linebacker, Jack Flanders, said, "We knew this game was going to be tough. The Spartans have a talented quarterback, but our defense stepped up and held them in check."

Head coach, Mike Thompson, added, "I'm proud of the way our defense played tonight. They held the Spartans to just 10 points and kept the game close."

The Panthers' next game is against the Red Devils, who are currently on a five-game winning streak. The Panthers will need to continue to play strong defense to have a chance at winning.

Beckville jv's win 30-0 rout

The Beckville junior varsity football team defeated the rival Eastland junior varsity team 30-0 in their most recent game.

Head coach, Tom Mitchell, said, "We were able to control the game from the start. Our defense was strong and our offense was able to score on every possession."

The Beckville junior varsity team is now 4-0 on the season and will look to continue their winning streak in their next game.
