First Republican since Reconstruction

Ratliff wins Senate

By Paul Merkle

Though Republicans Bill Ratliff can only claim 11,000 votes, a strong showing in Troup County gave him the victory over the incumbent, Chief District Judge John Dew. Ratliff, a consulting engineer from Weatherford, will join chief attorney J. M. Wilson, also running for a second term, in the 1st District Texas Senate since Reconstruction.

Ratliff earned his victory with a strong showing in weatherford, where he carried 11,000 votes to 9,800 for Dew. Ratliff's winning margin was 1,200 votes, or 12 percent of the total vote. In Troup County, Ratliff carried 5,000 votes to 4,700 for Dew, a margin of 300 votes, or 6 percent of the total vote. In the rest of the district, Ratliff carried 1,500 votes to 1,300 for Dew, a margin of 200 votes, or 4 percent of the total vote.

Ratliff’s victory in weatherford gave him a comfortable lead. His strong showing in Troup County helped him win the first Republican Senate seat since Reconstruction.

Chapman wins re-election

By Michael Golden

In the new election, Chief District Judge John Dew defeated incumbent Chief District Judge W. J. Taylor, 11,000 votes to 9,800. Dew said he plans to continue his work as a judge.

The new election was held on Tuesday, with Chief District Judge W. J. Taylor running for a second term. Taylor carried 11,000 votes to 9,800 for Dew, a margin of 1,200 votes, or 12 percent of the total vote. In Troup County, Taylor carried 5,000 votes to 4,700 for Dew, a margin of 300 votes, or 6 percent of the total vote. In the rest of the district, Taylor carried 1,500 votes to 1,300 for Dew, a margin of 200 votes, or 4 percent of the total vote.

Johnson wins house seat in landslide

Hydrilla-plagued board begs Clement for carp

By Sheryl D. Taylor

The board voted to take the necessary steps to combat the invasion of the invasive aquatic plant, the grass carp, which is native to Texas. The board is currently reviewing proposals for the removal of the grass carp from the area. The project is expected to cost approximately $1 million and will be funded through a combination of federal and local sources.

According to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the grass carp is an invasive species that can cause significant damage to aquatic ecosystems. The fish is known for consuming large quantities of vegetation, which can lead to the depletion of native fish populations and the alteration of food chains.

Recent studies have shown that the presence of grass carp can lead to a decrease in aquatic biodiversity and can negatively affect the health of water bodies. The grass carp is known to feed on a variety of aquatic plants, including algae, which can lead to the depletion of aquatic ecosystems.

Dracula to haunt Panola College this week

In a series of events leading up to Halloween, the campus of Panola College will come alive with the supernatural spirit of Dracula. The college has planned a series of events that promise to be both thrilling and educational. Among the activities planned are lectures, workshops, and interactive sessions aimed at exploring the legend of Dracula and its influence on modern culture.

In addition, the college will host a special screening of classic Dracula films, followed by a discussion with renowned film scholars. There will also be a workshop on the art of cosplay, where participants will have the opportunity to dress up as their favorite Dracula character and compete for the best costume.

The events are open to the public, and attendees are encouraged to wear costumes or participate in the discussion. For more information, please visit the college’s website or contact the event coordinator directly.

Local scouts collecting food for the needy

With the holiday season fast approaching, the local scouts are urging the community to support their food drive, which aims to collect donations for local food banks. The scouts have set up collection points at various locations around the city, including the Panola College campus, and are encouraging residents to bring non-perishable items and canned goods.

The food drive will continue until December 1, and the scouts hope to collect as many items as possible to help those in need. For more information, please contact the scout leader or visit the scout’s website.

Texas did all right

Texas came out ahead again this year, no matter how you look at it. George Bush and Lyndon B. Johnson, both from the Lone Star State, were re-elected to the highest office in the land. It's good to have a competent and experienced leader in the White House and in the Senate.

Bush, who has been in office for four years, has proven himself to be a strong and steady leader. His policies have been popular with the American people, and he has managed to keep the country on the right track.

Johnson, on the other hand, has been a strong advocate for civil rights and social justice. His leadership has been instrumental in the passage of important legislation, including the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Together, they have been able to achieve a lot for the country. Bush's focus on fiscal responsibility and economic growth has been beneficial, while Johnson's social programs have improved the lives of many Americans.

In conclusion, I believe that this election was a great success for Texas. We have a capable and knowledgeable leader in the White House, and we have a strong advocate for social justice in the Senate. Let's hope that they continue to work together to make the country a better place.

Ponies mug SAU in 84-48 affray

By TED LEACH

The young Ponies owned the game in the early stages against the Virginia Commonwealth University Rams on Friday night, but the Rams' defense showed its teeth in the third period, holding UCF to a 37-20 edge for the rest of the game. The game had plenty of action, but the Rams' defense held the Ponies to 20 points in the final two quarters, allowing them to hold on for the victory.

The Rams' defense forced two turnovers in the first quarter, one of which led to a 3-pointer by Robert Franklin. The Rams also held the Ponies to just seven points in the second quarter, while their offense scored 27 points.

In the third quarter, the Rams held the Ponies to 10 points, as they took control of the game. The Rams' defense was led by the 13-point performance of guard Matthew Jones, while guard John Hargrove added 11 points.

The Rams won the game 84-48, extending their win streak to three games.

Under Six

Zack Allen cut through the defense and found his way to the basket for two of his team-high 12 points. Allen made 4 of 6 shots from the field and 2 of 2 free throws.

Under Eight

Hadi Selim scored 10 points for the Ponies, hitting 4 of 6 shots from the field and 2 of 2 free throws.

Under Twelve

Schembri, the son of NBA legend Julius Erving, scored 13 points, hitting 5 of 8 shots from the field and 1 of 2 free throws.

Onward and upward for Ponies

The Ponies have a tough road ahead, but they are determined to keep improving and competing at a high level. The team is looking forward to their next game against the University of Virginia on Saturday night.

The Ponies are currently 6-11 on the season and 2-7 in conference play. They have lost their last four games, but they are confident they can turn things around.
