Gas explosion forces evacuations

By the Watchman Staff

Panola County residents were forced to evacuate their homes and businesses after a gas explosion.

The explosion occurred at the "old Champlin" plant, which housed a metal building that was destroyed in a fire.

Volunteer firefighters and Union Pacific workers keep watch on the threatening blaze.

Mikhail Gorbachev: why we love him so

By Anne Hatfield

Some people might think that it is strange to say "we love him so," but I think it is true. Mikhail Gorbachev is a man who has inspired people all over the world with his vision of a better future for everyone. He has been a leader who has not only spoken the words, but also lived them. His policies of perestroika and glasnost have opened up new possibilities for all of us. His courage in facing down the nomenklatura has been an inspiration. For these reasons, we all love him so.

Clements vows to veto any new tax bills

By Bob Price

Clements vows to veto any new tax bills

AUGUST - Only a few days after Governor Ann Richards announced that House members would be asked to vote on a special session of the legislature, Speaker of the House Tom Craddick announced that he would not call for such a session. Richards had earlier said that she was willing to go along with any request for a special session from the governor.

The end of the year may come too soon after the regular session to make a decision, but Clements said he would veto any new tax bills passed by the legislature. He also said that he would veto any bill that would raise taxes on the state level.

Clements also said he would veto any bill that would cut state funding for public schools.

Old Carthage bank picture gave artist eerie feeling

By Dorothy Watchman

FORT WORTH — Taking a picture of a haunted bank building with a camera, artist Dorothy Watchman didn't expect the bank to become haunted.

"I thought it was just a matter of time before the bank became haunted," Watchman said. "I've been to the bank a few times and it seems to have a life of its own."

Watchman's picture of the bank, which she believe to be haunted, was taken during a photo shoot for a local magazine. The bank, which is located in the historic district of Carthage, has been the site of several strange occurrences in recent months.

"The bank has a dark history," Watchman said. "It was once a hotel, and there have been reports of ghosts in the area."

Watchman said she has been contacted by several people who claim to have seen strange things in the bank. "I've heard stories of people hearing footsteps on the second floor, even though the bank is empty," she said. "And there have been reports of cold spots and unexplained noises."

Despite the rumors, Watchman remains skeptical. "I'm not sure if the bank is haunted or not," she said. "But I can't deny the eerie feeling I get when I'm there."

Watchman said she plans to continue photographing the bank, hoping to capture more of its mysterious atmosphere. "I'm not sure what's going to happen next," she said. "But I'm excited to see what the future holds."

Instructions given for delivering goodies for 'jillhouse bake sale'

Friday, December 14, 1988

By Dorothy Watchman

Children in the Carthage area will have the opportunity to attend a bake sale next month, thanks to a new event called the "Jillhouse Bake Sale." The bake sale is being held as a way to raise money for a local charity, and organizers are hoping to attract a large crowd.

"We're hoping to have a great turnout for the bake sale," said organizer Jill Davis. "We've been working hard to make sure everything is in place for a successful event." Davis said that the sale will feature a variety of baked goods, including cakes, cupcakes, and cookies.

"People in the community have been very generous," Davis said. "We've already received a lot of donations, and we're looking forward to seeing what else people bring." Davis said that the sale will take place on Saturday, January 20th, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Carthage Community Center.

Davis said that volunteers are still needed to help with the event. "We're looking for people to help with everything from setting up to cleaning up," she said. "If you have a few hours to spare, we'd love to have you."

The sale is being held in memory of a local woman who passed away last year. "We're hoping to use the money raised to help people in need," Davis said. "We want to make sure that everyone in the community has the opportunity to participate in the sale."

For Altrusans, happiness is more fruitcake

By Dorothy Watchman

FORT WORTH — For Altrusans, happiness is more than just a fruitcake. It's a way of life.

"Fruitcake is the perfect representation of Altrusian values," said Altrusian President Jane Smith. "It's a symbol of generosity, love, and caring for others."

Smith said that the Altrusians have been making fruitcakes for many years, and that the tradition has become an important part of their organization.

"We believe in giving back to the community," Smith said. "Fruitcakes are a great way to do that. They're a delicious treat that people love, and they help us raise money for our various projects." Smith said that the Altrusians will be selling fruitcakes this holiday season, and that all proceeds will go towards their charitable efforts.

"Our fruitcakes are made with the finest ingredients," Smith said. "We use fresh, high-quality nuts and spices, and we take the time to make sure they're perfectly seasoned."

Zoe's Recipe Box

Imaginative cook averts term is barbecue 'sop', not sauce

By Dorothy Watchman

FORT WORTH — Zoe, a creative cook in the Carthage area, has come up with a new recipe that's sure to delight your taste buds.

"I like to experiment in the kitchen," said Zoe. "I love trying new recipes and seeing what I can come up with."

Zoe's latest creation is a barbecue sauce that's sure to be a hit. "I call it 'sop' because it's so good," she said. "It's got a little bit of heat, but it's not overwhelming." Zoe said that the sauce is perfect for grilling meat, and that it's sure to make your next barbecue party a success.

"I've already had a chance to test it out, and my friends loved it," Zoe said. "I hope other people will enjoy it as much as I do." Zoe said that she plans to share the recipe with her friends and family, and to continue experimenting in the kitchen.

United Way contributions given

Donations made by several local financial institutions and the employees of United Pacific Resources toward the United Way's 1995 Campaign, exceeded the $5,000 goal set by the organization.

Riggs received a United Way donation from Melissa Harris, employee representative of First National Bank. Also shown are Wesley Barrient, bank president, and Bobby Smith, senior vice-president.

Riggs also received a check from Christmas in the Park, presented by Paul and Loretta Colvin on behalf of the Army National Guard.

Thanks expressed

We deeply appreciate the prayers, hearts, cards, floral donations, and expressions of sympathy sent to us in the wake of the loss of our family member, Gary. We feel fortunate to be blessed with the family of friends and family we have, in addition to the love and support from our community. The money and cards of sympathy have been a source of strength and comfort. We will always remember Gary with love, and the service that day was a perfect tribute to a wonderful man. Help us to always keep his memory alive. It is only our wish that we may have continued prayers and support in the days to come. We are forever grateful.

Riggs receives a United Way donation from Melissa Harris, employee representative of First National Bank. Also shown are Wesley Barrient, bank president, and Bobby Smith, senior vice-president.

Riggs also received a check from Christmas in the Park, presented by Paul and Loretta Colvin on behalf of the Army National Guard.

Thanks expressed

We deeply appreciate the prayers, hearts, cards, floral donations, and expressions of sympathy sent to us in the wake of the loss of our family member, Gary. We feel fortunate to be blessed with the family of friends and family we have, in addition to the love and support from our community. The money and cards of sympathy have been a source of strength and comfort. We will always remember Gary with love, and the service that day was a perfect tribute to a wonderful man. Help us to always keep his memory alive. It is only our wish that we may have continued prayers and support in the days to come. We are forever grateful.
