Holy Week recalls paradoxes of Christ’s life

By Nancy McNeil

With Holy Week approaching, the local faith community is preparing for a time of reflection and remembrance. Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week, is a time to celebrate the triumphant entry of Jesus into Jerusalem, symbolized by the procession on a donkey. This tradition serves as a reminder of the paradoxical nature of Christ’s life, where love and suffering coexist.

At the service, attendees will pray for healing and peace. The Rev. Phil Staley, pastor of Christ United Methodist Church, said the theme of the service, "The Way," will focus on Jesus’ journey to Jerusalem. "His love and compassion are evident in everything he did," Staley said. "And yet, his sacrifice was the ultimate demonstration of love for humanity."

New York, the last daughter of St. Peter, believes the service is a important way to remember the teachings of Jesus. "It’s a reminder that we are all on a journey, and sometimes we make mistakes," she said.

Worship, luncheon set

St. John’s will be the site of a worship service this Sunday morning. The service begins at 10 a.m., followed by a continental breakfast at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Dr. Vivian Brown will preach on the theme of "The Way."
