OK to burn those leaves,
but do it right, says Lovett

Recent estimates have shown that there is a significant amount of wood and leaves left from the recent winter storms. In an effort to encourage safe and responsible disposal of these materials, Lovett suggests that individuals practice the principles of the new "OK to Burn" program.

The city of Palestine has announced that it will accept burning of leaves and wood from now until December 31st. Lovett encourages residents to take advantage of this opportunity while maintaining the cleanliness of the city.

Moral arrogance: all-American malady?

A few years back, a chapter of the Moral Majority started a campaign to "educate" the public about the dangers of sin. This campaign was praised by many religious leaders and was considered a model of how to approach public issues. However, as time went on, it became clear that the campaign was not intended to inform, but rather to intimidate and coerce. The use of fear and intimidation to promote moral values is a sign of moral arrogance, which is all-American malady.

New job awaiting Landry in Clement fold?

AUSTIN—The most recent report on the job status of Jim Landry, the current head of the Clement School District, suggests that he may soon have a new job in the Clement fold.

The report, which is based on information obtained from sources within the Clement School District, indicates that Landry is being considered for a position as a consultant to the district. The position would involve working with school administrators to improve the quality of education in the district.

Friends rally to give comfort, support
For family of downed Marine, waiting ordeal goes on

By Dorothy Smith

A crowd gathered on a recent evening on the street in downtown Carthage, waiting to hear what a family friend had to say. They were there to support the family of a Marine who was downed in a recent combat zone.

The family was waiting for updates on their loved one, who was a Marine stationed in the area. They were hoping for news of his safety, but the waiting was long and difficult.

Among friends who gathered to support the family was a Marine who had served alongside the downed Marine. He was there to offer words of encouragement and to share stories of his own experiences in the service.

The crowd listened attentively as the friend spoke of his concerns for the family and the challenges they were facing. He reminded them that the wait would be long and that the family would need their support.

The family remained strong and hopeful throughout the wait, knowing that their loved one was not alone and that others were there to support them.

As the evening wore on, the friend continued to offer words of comfort and assurance. He encouraged the family to stay strong and to trust in the knowledge that they were not alone in this moment.

The crowd dispersed as the sun began to set, but the support and encouragement remained. The family knew that they had a community of friends and loved ones who were there to support them through this difficult time.

Men arrested for drug paraphernalia

On Sunday, March 22, at approximately 10:00 A.M., Officer Carl Mancuso stopped a vehicle on a remote road traveling at 55 MPH. He stopped the vehicle to advise the driver of the traffic violation. During the stop, the officer noticed a black duffel bag in the driver's side of the vehicle. He received consent to search the vehicle and found a wooden box, under the front seat, containing four rolls of film, and plastic bags, and some papers, tinfoil, and a plastic bag containing seven white tablets. The driver was arrested and the car impounded.

At 8:30 A.M., they stopped the vehicle and the driver, Michael Reed, was arrested with a container of drugs. At the station, the officers found a container of 22 tablets, two plastic bags, and a glass pipe. The driver was arrested and the car impounded.
