Tax valuations remain fairly constant

Pendleton County's tax valuations didn't change much this year, according to County Assessor Robert E. Brown. The county's current tax rate, which was set at $2.9441 per $100 of assessed value for the 1983 tax year, will remain the same for the 1984 tax year.

Brown said that the county's current tax rate is lower than the rate that was in effect last year, which was $3.1755 per $100 of assessed value. He said that the lower rate is a result of the county's efforts to lower its tax rate in recent years.

One of the few unclaimed remains of the Dyal family is believed to be buried in Lloyd's Cemetery. The remains were found in a shallow grave near the cemetery's fence line.

Last month, the woman who discovered the remains, Mabel J. Dyal, was contacted by a representative of the Kentucky Department of Health, who informed her that the remains were those of a woman who died in the early 1900s.

Collison in DeBerry injures four persons

A major car and truck collision occurred Saturday at the intersection of South and North Deberry in DeBery. The accident involved two vehicles, a pickup truck and a station wagon. The station wagon was driven by a man and a woman, while the pickup truck was driven by a man and a woman.

The victims were taken to Pendleton General Hospital by emergency medical vehicles. The driver of the station wagon was seriously injured, while the driver of the pickup truck was moderately injured.

PHG helipad work begins

Pendleton County Baptist Hospital began construction of a new helipad on Friday morning. The hospital's new helipad will be located on the hospital's roof and will provide a new landing area for emergency medical flights.

Two injured in auto accident

The accident occurred on U.S. 27 near the intersection of U.S. 27 and U.S. 31E. The accident involved a car driven by a man and a woman. The car was traveling westbound on U.S. 31E when it collided with a truck that was traveling eastbound on U.S. 27.

Both drivers were injured in the accident. The woman was transported to Pendleton General Hospital by ambulance, while the man was transported by private vehicle.

Presentation of awards will be at 7 p.m. Saturday. There will be a presentation for the winners, and refreshments will be served.

Strictly personal

There’s a saying before the Texas House that goes something like this: "If you come to the House with a bone in your hand, you can’t take it with you when you leave."

The House is the only state legislative body in which no member may keep anything from the floor, and if they do, they are considered to have a conflict of interest.

The saying is often used to remind members that they cannot keep anything valuable from the House floor, such as a House vote or a piece of legislation.

But what about the bone in your hand? Is it possible to bring a bone to the floor of the Texas House?

According to the Texas State Handbook, "The House is the only state legislative body in which no member may keep anything from the floor, and if they do, they are considered to have a conflict of interest."

So, the saying "If you come to the House with a bone in your hand, you can’t take it with you when you leave." is a reference to the fact that members cannot keep anything valuable from the House floor.

In other words, if you bring a bone to the floor of the Texas House, you can’t take it with you when you leave.

The saying is often used to remind members that they cannot keep anything valuable from the House floor, such as a House vote or a piece of legislation.

Man who claims to be "the wisest man in the West" doesn’t seem to be very wise

The Curious Reporter is a column that explores the interesting and quirky side of life in the Lone Star State.

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has received complaints about a man who claims to be "the wisest man in the West." The man, who goes by the name "Wisdom," is known for his unique fashion sense and his strange behavior.

Wisdom recently made headlines when he was spotted flying a helicopter over the state, chasing antelope.

"I wasn’t chasing antelope," Wisdom said. "I was just flying over the state to see the beauty of it."

But some people think Wisdom’s claims are a little too out there.

"I wouldn’t say he’s the wisest man in the West," said one person who saw him flying the helicopter. "I’d say he’s more like the wisest man in the sky."

Sybil’s Scribbles

In the world of antelope hunting, a good chaser can make or break a hunt. And when it comes to antelope chasing, there’s one man who stands out above the rest.

"He’s the best antelope chaser I’ve ever seen," said one hunter. "I’ve seen him chase antelope in the mountains, in the desert, and even in the snow."

But what makes him such a good chaser? According to his friends, it’s his dedication to the craft.

"He’s always out there, chasing antelope," said another hunter. "Henever takes a break, no matter how long it takes."
