County’s 1947 road law still valid

Special act specific about need for, and functions of, an engineer

A novel 34-mile Sewerage Improvement District was created last week by the Panola County Commissioners to take action on the most pressing water-related issues in the county. The district is a public entity authorized by the Texas Water Development Board to design, construct, and operate water and sewer projects within its boundaries.

The district covers an area of 34 square miles and includes the towns of Brookville, Tarkington, and Magnolia. The purpose of the district is to provide water and sewer services to the residents of these communities.

The creation of the district was necessary due to the growing population and the need for improved water and sewer infrastructure in the area. The district will have the authority to levy taxes and issue bonds to fund the necessary projects.

The district will be governed by a board of directors consisting of five members, who will be elected by the qualified voters within the district. The board will be responsible for making decisions regarding the operation and maintenance of the water and sewer systems.

The establishment of the district will provide a dedicated and experienced team of professionals to handle the water and sewer needs of the community. This will result in improved services, reduced costs, and increased efficiency.

Screening kits available for home cancer tests

Shellee O’Neal caps second

Cathcart TSA ninth in national contest

Two-vehicle accident sends four to hospital

Performances nightly at 8

Cattlemen’s rodeo starting Thursday

Russell Kemp, James Hill and William Goodey get a "feel" for charity racing
A three-year love affair with Panola County

Three years ago, I fell in love with Panola County. It was a dark, stormy night, and I was driving my old, beat-up car down the winding, twisting road that leads to the heart of the county. As I approached the turnoff to my home, I noticed a beautiful sight. A large, majestic oak tree stood tall, its branches reaching out like arms, welcoming me home. It was then that I realized I had fallen in love with Panola County.

Ever since that night, I have been a regular visitor to this county. I love its rolling hills, its calm lakes, and its friendly people. I especially love the way the sun sets over the horizon, painting the sky with hues of orange and pink. It's a sight that never fails to bring a smile to my face.

But, alas, my love affair with Panola County has come to an end. It was a brief, but intense relationship. I will miss the beauty of its landscape, the warmth of its people, and the simplicity of its life. But I know that I must move on.

In the end, I realize that love affairs are short-lived. And just like any other relationship, this one had its ups and downs. But in the end, I learned that I was not the right person for Panola County. And so, I bid farewell to my beloved county, hoping that one day, we will cross paths again.
Gary News

Hot Offers From Pizza Hut

Want your phone to ring?
Place a Panola Watchman Classified Ad - 693-7988

Lawless completes training

Hunter's course planned

Eastex sweeps all four

At last, a dip a chewer can like.
Men Make Mistakes...

One man struck a match to see if the gasoline tank was empty.... It wasn't.

One man patted a strange bulldog on the head to see if it was affectionate..... It wasn't.

One man speeded up to see if he could beat the train to the crossing..... He didn't.

One man touched an electric wire to see if it was dead..... It wasn't.

One man cut out his advertising to see if he could save money..... He didn't.

Good Advertising Doesn't Cost..... It Pays!!

Advertise With The

PANOLA COUNTY POST / The Panola Watchman
Financial service installs largest satellite network

St. Louis-based brokerage firm Edward D. Jones & Co. has been awarded a $100 million contract to install the largest satellite network in the United States. The firm's network will include 9,000 satellites for direct-to-home television services.

Youngblood arrives for duty

Amy Roux, Billy Youngblood, and Dan E. Youngblood from Youngblood Brothers arrived on duty at Youngblood Brothers in Carthage, Mo.

Second birthday

Jocelyn Danielke, a new addition to this month’s birthday list, was born on July 17 to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Danielke.

Happy Birthday

Tracy Anderson celebrates his third birthday this Saturday, July 27. His parents are Beth and Tracy Anderson of Carthage, Mo.