City gets good news
Sales tax rebate rates higher than in ‘88

By the Panola Times

For the year, the county’s sales tax receipts were more than 13 per cent higher than they were at the same period in 1984. Carthage received $28,205,100, an increase of 10 per cent from the $26,562,510 received in the same period last year. For the year, the county received $28,205,100, an increase of 10 per cent from the $26,562,510 received in the same period last year. The increase was due to a combination of factors, including increased sales and a higher sales tax rate. The county’s sales tax rate is currently 8.25 per cent, up from 7.25 per cent in 1984.

Carthage firm gets water meter job

Carthage city commissioners voted Monday to award the bid to a local company for the installation of water meters in the city. The company that was awarded the contract is Water Meters, Inc., located at 123 Main Street. The installation will begin immediately and is expected to be completed within six months. The cost of the project is estimated at $120,000.

Pay raises proposed for two

The county commissioners have proposed pay raises for two of their employees, Robert Smith and Jane Doe, who currently earn $30,000 and $35,000 per year, respectively. The raises are being proposed to recognize their hard work and dedication to the county. The proposed raises would bring their salaries to $35,000 and $40,000 per year, respectively.

Chapman says 'keep in touch'

Rep. Jim Chapman

Chapman then told how she received a telephone call from her constituents and was told that she was not doing her job. After thanking the constituents for their call, Chapman said she would look into the situation and do her best to improve the service in her district. In the appearance of the county farm bureau dinner, Chapman, who is a farmer, talked about the importance of investing in the future of agriculture. She said that farmers need to be more innovative and learn to use technology to improve their efficiency and profitability.

Panola county coroner

The Panola County coroner, Dr. John Smith, said that the death was due to complications from a long-term illness. Smith said that the person had been in poor health for several years and that the death was not unexpected. The death occurred at the age of 78, and no foul play was suspected.

Locals deserve bid opportunity

When some out-of-town firm went out at Panola County, they wrote to tell all of the other firms that it was open for bids. When we saw this, we wondered if they had gone out of business or if they had just forgotten about us. We think they're forgetting about us. A local firm should have had an opportunity to bid for the contract. We think it's a good idea to bid for the contract.

'Texas Highways' recalls past

AUSTIN--Led by the Texas Highways Association, Texas is on the verge of being designated as the 'Hottest State in the Union.' The state, which contains the capital of the state, is known for its vibrant culture and beautiful landscapes.

'Texas Highways' has been a source of information and inspiration for people in the state for many years. The organization promotes the importance of preserving and maintaining the state's highways and transportation infrastructure.

This year, the Texas Highways Association will celebrate its 50th anniversary. To mark the occasion, they will be hosting a special event that will bring together leaders from the transportation and infrastructure industries. The event will feature speakers, presentations, and workshops focused on the future of transportation in Texas.

'Texas Highways' has always been committed to ensuring that the state's highways and infrastructure are in good condition. They believe that investing in transportation is crucial for the state's economic growth and development. The organization works closely with the state government and other stakeholders to ensure that the state's transportation infrastructure meets the needs of its residents and businesses.

So far this year, 'Texas Highways' has worked on several projects that have improved the state's transportation infrastructure. One of their most notable projects was the construction of a new highway in Austin. The highway has helped to alleviate traffic congestion and has improved access to the city's business district.

'Texas Highways' is excited to celebrate its 50th anniversary and to continue its work in promoting the importance of transportation in the state. They encourage everyone to join them in celebrating this milestone and to support their efforts to ensure that the state's highways and infrastructure remain in good condition.

Moist conditions boost population

Moist conditions can boost population, but it depends on the species and the environment. Some species thrive in moist conditions, while others may struggle. It is important to monitor the population growth and take appropriate measures to ensure the health and well-being of the species.
