CISD officials describe opening as smooth

By JEREMIE MARCHAND

Bringing a preliminary enrollment of 2,400, Carriage Ridge received grades Monday as students returned to their new home for the first time.

"It's been a success," said Carriage Ridge principal John Charles Hamen. "The school was ready when everyone arrived. We're very, very pleased with the way it went." He noted that the school opened with 2,400 students and a staff of 151.

"We've had two years of planning and preparation," Hamen said. "We've worked hard to make sure everything is in place." He added that the school had an amazing amount of support from the community.

"The parents are very happy," Hamen said. "They've been very supportive and they've been very positive." He noted that the school had a lot of help from the community.

Further sanctions against China?

 Should Congress impose additional economic sanctions against China? The Chinese government’s attempt to control the internet and deny access to information about its human rights abuses could merit such a policy. However, it is important to consider the potential consequences of such action.
