Soaring cost of insurance hits at budgets

Someone once said the only thing certain below the deck, and that was true:

The rising cost of health care is taking on a much more significant role in the economy. More than ever, businesses are finding that they need to plan for the unexpected.

The rising cost of medical care is something that businesses of all sizes need to plan for. The recent surge in health care costs has been driven by a number of factors, including inflation, increased demand for services, and changing regulations.

CAPITOL WHEELING, DEALING SHOCKS VETERAN OBSERVERS

AUSTIN — From veteran observers on Capitol Hill to lobbyists and lawmakers themselves, there is a growing sense of unease among those who have long been accustomed to the ways of the Texas legislature.

The traditional unters of lawmakers have been learning the new tricks of the trade, and they are not always happy with the results.

The situation has been exacerbated by the recent increase in the number of lobbyists in Austin, many of whom are newcomers to the capital.

These newcomers bring a fresh perspective to the Capitol, but they also bring a different set of rules and expectations.

As a result, many lawmakers are feeling increasingly isolated and out of touch with their constituents.

One observer, who has been following the developments closely, said, "It's like they're in a parallel world, where the laws and the rules don't apply to them."
PC team gains new member

Eaves give hope to hearing impaired

By Tom Eaves

A new member has been added to the Panola College computer team, and the addition is not only beneficial to the team's capabilities but also provides hope for a student with hearing impairment.

Macy Eaves, who has been a student at Panola College, has been named the new member of the computer team. Macy has been diagnosed with a hearing impairment and has been using a hearing aid in one ear.

The team is excited about having Macy as a member, as she brings a unique perspective to the team's discussions.

"Macy brings a fresh outlook to the team," said team captain, Jacob Smith. "Her ability to communicate through the hearing aid has provided us with new insights and strategies for solving problems."

Macy is also excited to be a part of the team, as she feels that it provides her with an opportunity to contribute to something positive.

"I'm really looking forward to being a part of this team," said Macy. "I feel like I can contribute to the team's success and I'm excited to be a part of something bigger than myself."

The team has been working on several projects, including developing a new website for the college's physics department.

"We've been working on this project for several weeks, and I think that Macy will be able to offer new ideas and perspectives," said Smith.

The team is looking forward to working with Macy and seeing what kind of contribution she can make to their projects.

Farmers penalized by replanting

Sen. Gramm seeks disaster relief changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — For farm disaster relief aid, an estimated 98% of the $1.5 billion in aid will go to 13 southern states, according to Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Charles Grassley.

"I'm looking for a way to help the farmers," Grassley said. "The Senate is considering a number of changes to the disaster relief program, including increasing the amount of aid and expanding the criteria for eligibility." The committee plans to vote on the measure this week.

The new aid program, which was signed into law in 1994, provides up to $500 million annually to farmers who have suffered losses due to natural disasters.

Under the current program, farmers can receive up to 65% of their annual net income in aid, but only if they have suffered a loss of at least 15% of their total production.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., said the current program is not working as intended.

"The current program is not designed to help the farmers in the long run," said Lugar. "It is time for us to look at ways to improve the program and make it more effective."
Bearcats dominate Shelbyville, 3-1

Offense explodes in impressive fashion in scrimmage

By ROY LECK,

The Panola Watchman

Shelbyville High School’s offense exploded for 31 points in the first half as the Bearcats dominated the Bulldogs in a 39-2 victory.

The Bearcats took the lead early, scoring a touchdown on their first possession. They added two more touchdowns in the second quarter to increase their lead to 21-0 at halftime. In the third quarter, Shelbyville scored two more touchdowns to put the game out of reach.

"Our offense was clicking on all cylinders," said Shelbyville head coach John Smith. "Our quarterback (Trenton Melton) had a great game, and our running backs (Jordan Johnson and Elijah Moore) did a great job creating big gaps and finding the holes.

"Our defense played well too. We held Shelbyville to just 130 total yards, and we forced them to turn over the ball twice."
