Fire chief says 65-foot ladder needed

BY DONALD COOPER

Carthage Fire Chief Emil Alkins on Monday urged the city to buy another 65-foot ladder truck. Alkins said the city’s 55-foot ladder is too small for efficient fire fighting. The city already has five fire stations, with at least one fire truck parked at each station. The current trucks are not adequate to fight fires on some of the buildings, particularly on the square.

"I believe that a 65-foot ladder, one that won’t be used much, but if it’s needed, then we need it," Alkins said.

Alkins said it was made clear last week that the city needs to buy another ladder truck. The city will be issuing a request to companies that manufacture ladders. The city will ask for bids on a ladder truck that would cost between $65,000 and $75,000. Alkins said the city could get what it needs for about $65,000.

City Manager Charlie Thomas asked Alkins if the ladder firefighters would need to be trained. Alkins said the firefighters would not need to be trained, as the new truck would cost about $65,000.

Deputies need 60-foot ladder

Floyd Street, who also needs the brick, Alkins said, the city can contact the Methodist or Longview fire departments; however, it would take too long for the vehicle to reach Carthage to extinguish the blaze.

Mayor Carson Jones asked Alkins about the cost of a 65-foot ladder.

"It would be too much money for the city," Alkins said.

"The city couldn’t afford to buy a ladder that cost $65,000," Mayor Jones said.

Alkins said the city could get what it needs for about $65,000.

City Manager Charlie Thomas asked Alkins if the ladder firefighters would need to be trained. Alkins said the firefighters would not need to be trained, as the new truck would cost about $65,000.

PERSPECTIVES

Free press boosts freedom of choice

Recently America acclaimed the American government's truncheon, but not much prominence was given to the fact that the press is a major contributor to the freedom of choice. However, in the absence of a free press, we would be left with nothing but a government-controlled information system.

The press serves a crucial role in fostering public awareness and critical thinking. It allows people to make informed decisions by providing a platform for diverse viewpoints and arguments. Without a free press, the government could easily manipulate public opinion and restrict access to information.

Moreover, the press helps to hold the government accountable. It exposes corruption and misconduct, ensuring that the government remains transparent and operates in the best interests of the people. When the press is censored or suppressed, the government becomes more powerful and less responsive to the needs of its citizens.

In conclusion, the free press is an essential component of a democratic society. It empowers individuals by providing them with the tools to make informed decisions and hold their leaders accountable. Without a free press, the freedom of choice that we hold dear would be severely compromised.

Assault weapons should be banned

Sen. Lloyd Prints

There's a new hope in the fight against gun violence in America, and it's time we act on it. Assault weapons should be banned. No one needs them, and no one should have access to them.

These weapons are designed for mass murder, not for legitimate self-defense. They are easy to use, difficult to control, and capable of causing irreparable harm. They have no place in a civilized society.

The ban must be comprehensive, covering all assault weapons, high-capacity magazines, and any weapon that can be easily modified to function as an assault weapon. We must also strengthen gun control laws and ensure that background checks are conducted.

This ban is a matter of public safety and should be a top priority for all lawmakers. We cannot continue to tolerate a situation where innocent lives are lost every day due to the ease of access to these weapons. It's time for action, and it's time for gun control.

State Capital

POLL REPORT

Blops Mattoo

Recent poll reports have indicated that the popularity of the state capital is on the rise. This is due in part to the recent implementation of new environmental policies and the focus on sustainable development.

The capital has also seen an increase in tourism, with new attractions and events drawing visitors from all over the country. The local economy has benefited from this growth, with increased revenue from tourism and related industries.

In addition, there is a strong push towards transparency and accountability in government. The state legislature has taken steps to increase public access to information and ensure that decision-making processes are open and fair.

Overall, the state capital is emerging as a model for sustainable development and good governance. It is a testament to the power of focused effort and a commitment to the betterment of the community.

Madison: ‘father of Bill of Rights’

By LEONARD LOVE

Madison is remembered as the “father of the Bill of Rights.” He played a pivotal role in shaping the Constitution and ensuring that the new government protected the individual liberties of its citizens.

As a historian, I am fascinated by the details of Madison’s life and work. He was a complex figure, with a deep commitment to human rights and a passion for constitutionalism.

Madison’s influence on American democracy is still felt today. His ideas about the separation of powers, checks and balances, and the importance of an independent judiciary have shaped the development of our political system.

In conclusion, Madison’s legacy is one of integrity and dedication. He was a true hero of American democracy, and his contributions continue to inspire us to this day.
AREA DEATHS

Mary A. Williams

Mrs. Mary A. Williams died at her home Monday, September 19. She was preceded in death by her husband, Mr. J. M. Williams. The family requested no visitation. A private family service will be held at the home. A graveside service will be conducted by Mr. J. A. Williams. The family will be at the home Sept. 20. Mrs. Williams was born in Texas and was a longtime resident of Carthage, where she was a member of the First Community Church. She was the mother of 14 children, 12 sons and two daughters, and the grandmother of 18 grandchildren. She was a devoted wife and mother and will be missed by her family and friends. She is survived by her children, grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews.

Pamela Smith

Pamela Smith died at her home in Carthage, Texas, on September 19. She was born in Texas on October 10, 1922, and was a long-time resident of Carthage. She was a member of the First Community Church and was a devoted wife, mother, and grandmother. She is survived by her husband, Mr. John Smith, and their children, grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews.

They chose Forethought... funeral planning... the first reaction was, "That's my dream." But the way they explained it, the idea seemed to be that the benefits of the program would be of great value to the family. They said they would have the things planned in advance. I'd have to make more decisions in a couple of days than I would in a month's time. So I accepted it. So we went to the office and filled out the application. The process was simple and straightforward. There were no hidden fees or charges. We chose a policy that would pay off in the event of death. The plan was based on the fact that we would have to have a burial or cremation. They recommended a policy that would pay off in the event of death. We chose the plan because it was the most flexible and provided the best coverage.

Ware to complete academy training

Dana Ware completed academy training at the Texas Department of Public Safety. She is now a full-time employee at the department. She was trained in all aspects of the academy, including emergency response, investigation, and public relations. She is currently assigned to the Traffic Safety Division, where she investigates accidents and provides training to public safety officers. Dana Ware is a dedicated public servant who is committed to serving her community. She is a valuable asset to the Texas Department of Public Safety and will continue to provide excellent service to the citizens of Texas.

Dogs rally from grave to nip Bears

By TED LEACH

CLAYTON -- Carthage ran a gantlet that would have turned the stomach of any other team in the state, but it left the Dogs standing as they were the only team in the state to beat Beckville this season.

With a roar, Carthage defeated Beckville 25-20, snapping Beckville's season-long winning streak.

"We had a lot of potential players tonight," said Carthage coach Ray McFarland. "The Bears were spotted with a 17-point lead and then we knew we had to put our game on the line.

"We had to get tough and we had to push through and we did that tonight. We'll take it because we're not going to feel too good about ourselves if we don't." The Dogs' next game against Vernon will be their final game of the season.

Daingerfield big challenge to perfect mark

Talented Dog jv’s seek fourth win

By TED LEACH

DAINGERFIELD – Through eight games this season, the Dog jv squad has compiled a 5-3 record. Daingerfield defeated Henderson 41-8 at home last week to improve its mark. The team faces a challenge this week when it travels to Carthage to face the Carthage jv squad. The Dog jv’s have already lost to the Bulldog jv’s, 27-0, this season.

The Dog jv’s have a chance this week to improve their record to 5-4. The jv’s are looking for a win this week to help them prepare for the upcoming playoffs. Daingerfield is currently in position for a playoff berth and a win this week would help their chances.

Carthage tries to regroup

By TED LEACH

CARTHAGE – Carthage jv’s take on Daingerfield this week in their final jv game of the season. Carthage is currently 3-5 and faces a tough challenge against Daingerfield’s strong jv squad. The jv’s have already lost to Daingerfield this season and are looking for a chance to regroup and improve their record.
