1980's Boom, Bust, Recovery

When oil prices plummeted from $36 a barrel in 1981 to $12 a barrel in 1986 it was a disaster for Panola County. We were such a dependent oil community that the collapse of oil prices was catastrophic to the entire region. By 1982, 65% of the county's population was employed in the oil, gas, and construction industries. The county had 84,000 residents at that time.

In the 1980-87 recession, the unemployment rate in Panola County increased from 4.9% in 1983 to 20.2% in 1987. As a result, the average annual income in Panola County dropped from $17,700 in 1983 to $12,300 in 1987. The county's economy was in shambles.

The Greatest Gift I've Ever Received

The gift that I received was not a gift wrapped in the usual way. It was the gift of health.

It was a surprise that came to me. My health was failing and I was not prepared for it. My doctor said that I had a serious illness and that I needed to take immediate action.

I was used to being healthy and doing things on my own. But now I was dependent on others for basic tasks.

I was forced to slow down and take things easy. I had to learn to live with my limitations.

It was a difficult time, but I learned to be grateful for what I had.

I learned to appreciate the small things in life. I learned to be patient and to trust in the future.

I learned that the greatest gift I could ever receive is good health.
