Tyson's Carthage origin remembered at luncheon

A large gathering of Chamber members, local businessmen and friends of Tyson Foods enjoyed a good part of the day Saturday celebrating the expanded opening of their new truck terminal, and found in the luncheon a尤为 unusual and enjoyable one.

Inside the hall, the luncheon, sponsored by the Chamber, featured a speech by Senator Crank of Carthage, who spoke on the history of the town and his personal connection to it.

Senator Crank, who is a key figure in the city's political landscape, shared some fascinating stories about Carthage's past, including its role during the Civil War and its significance as a center of the cotton trade.

The luncheon also featured a presentation by Tyson Foods, highlighting their commitment to the town and its continued growth.

The event was a great success, and everyone was eager to learn more about Tyson Foods and Carthage.

UPDATE:

The Senator's speech was particularly touching, and his insights into Carthage's history and his personal connection to the city were truly inspiring.

Senator Crank's speech was the highlight of the event, and it was clear that the audience was appreciative of his time and effort.

Tyson Foods also put on a great show, demonstrating their commitment to the town and the people they serve.

Overall, it was a fantastic day in Carthage, and everyone is eagerly looking forward to the next event.

NOTE:

Tyson Foods is one of the largest food processing companies in the world, and their commitment to Carthage is just one of the many reasons why it is such a great place to live and work.

Social Security News

By Ray McEachern

Social Security benefits continue to grow, but the cost of living has increased, making it even harder for many Americans to make ends meet. Social Security benefits are indexed to the Consumer Price Index to ensure that they keep up with inflation. However, the annual cost of living increase is only part of the picture. Social Security beneficiaries also face other challenges, including the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on income and savings, as well as changes in the workforce and retirement patterns.

The center is a valuable resource for genealogists, researchers, and anyone interested in local history.

Hance says oil production data cold slap of reality

Tarrant Railroad Commissioner John D. Hance says that the recent oil production data shows a significant drop in production. Hance, who chairs the Railroad Commission of Texas, says that the data is a cold slap of reality for those who believe that Texas is still a major oil producer. The data shows that Texas's oil production has dropped by 20% in the past year, and Hance says that the state needs to redouble its efforts to bring in new investors and attract new companies to the state.

Ladies Fire Auxiliary supports volunteers

The Ladies Fire Auxiliary of Mount Zion, Illinois, has been supporting volunteer firefighters for years. The group has raised funds for new equipment and provided meals to members who are working long shifts. The Auxiliary is made up of women who support their husbands and fellow volunteers, and they are a vital part of the community's safety network.

Clients Have Passion For Passive Exercise

Nan McFadden says passive exercise has helped her to lose weight and strengthen her core. McFadden, who is a personal trainer, says that passive exercise, which includes activities like walking or yoga, can be just as effective as active exercise for improving fitness. McFadden says that passive exercise is a great way to get started with a fitness routine and that it can lead to weight loss and improved health.
