DeBerry, Clayton voters courted

Hospital panel greeted with mixed reaction

It was a hot time in the "city of Clayton" when Clayton County officials met with concerned citizens to argue the merits of a proposed $30 million expansion of the hospital. The Clayton County Hospital expansion was widely supported by residents, who feared that the planned expansion would cause a severe lack of hospital beds in the area. However, after the meeting, some residents expressed their concerns about the potential impact on the local economy.

The American Dream Is Alive. Is Yours?
No guarenteed way to predict the future

BY JIM CROCKETT

The recent announcements of a major oil discovery in the Gulf of Mexico and the discovery of a new mineral in Russia have added fuel to the debate about whether or not we can predict the future.

Some experts argue that new discoveries and innovations will eventually lead to a better understanding of the world around us. Others believe that our current understanding is limited and that we cannot accurately predict what will happen in the future.

Regardless of one's opinion on the matter, it is clear that we will continue to learn more about our world as we explore and discover new things. The key is to remain open-minded and willing to engage with new ideas and perspectives in order to advance our understanding of the world around us.
