Johnson says Panola County may avoid change

Redistricting to help Texas

The Texas Legislature's redistricting hearings are set to begin on June 12, and the proposed map for Panola County is likely to be on the table. Despite the recent efforts to redraw the districts, the current map is expected to remain in place for the 2022 election. The hearings will focus on how to best represent the population changes in the county. Johnson, who represents Panola County in the Legislature, believes that the county will avoid changes to its current districts. The current district is composed of a mix of rural and urban areas, and Johnson is concerned about the impact that new districts could have on the county's representation in the Legislature.

Increased drilling pumps up Carthage tax revenues

Carthage, TX (June 10) — Drilling activity in Panola County is expected to boost tax revenues for the city. Increased drilling activity has been observed around the county, particularly in the southeastern part of the county near the Sabine River. The increased drilling is attributed to the rising demand for oil and gas, driven by the global energy crisis and the increasing need for alternative energy sources. The increased drilling is expected to bring more than $1 million in additional tax revenue to the city by the end of the year. The city council is expected to allocate the additional revenue for infrastructure improvements and other community needs.

Highway mowing begins in nine-county area

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) has begun its annual highway mowing season in nine counties, including Carthage. The mowing will take place from June 1 to August 31, and is expected to improve traffic flow and safety on the highways.

According to TxDOT, the mowing process involves using specialized equipment to cut weeds and overgrowth on the sides of the roadways. This helps to reduce hazards, improve visibility, and maintain a safe environment for drivers.

“This is a crucial time of year for highway mowing,” said TxDOT spokesperson, Jim Brown. “By keeping the roadsides clear, we can help prevent accidents and ensure a smoother ride for our drivers.”

TxDOT advises drivers to be patient during the mowing season and to avoid littering or leaving debris on the sides of the road. For more information, please visit the TxDOT website or call 511 for road conditions.
