Shouldn't Big AIDS reveal all about AIDS?

Don't ever get the feeling that your government is too small when dealing with issues concerning things you need to know.

You know, pointing out Big AIDS is an issue, that AIDS is a big disease, and that it's our job as a country to deal with it. But do we really know all we need to know about AIDS?

Well, the facts are as follows: AIDS is a big disease, and it's our job as a country to deal with it. But do we really know all we need to know about AIDS?

And the answer, my friends, is no. We don't know all we need to know about AIDS.

That's why we must continue to research and learn more about this disease. Only then can we truly understand and effectively combat it.

Harris, White nuptials said in Beckville

Dinner with style in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson. The sparkle of the china and the elegance of the table settings were evident in the decorations. The guests were entertained with a delicious meal and a toast to the happy couple.

I have just heard the ring for the third time in the last hour. During a period of ultraactivity, I was called three times, once for the wedding shower, once for the bridal shower, and once for the engagement party. Each time, I was called by a different person, all of whom were in attendance at the previous event.

Panola College English instructor launches career into administration

Panola College administration secretary Bobbi Hicks and Charley Hughes.

I've always liked helping students, and now I feel I have a vantage point to help them.

—Bobbi Hicks

I've always been involved in student leadership in some way, shape or form. I was Panola's student body president in 1993-94. I've been involved in the Panola Foundation for a few years, and I'm currently serving as the board chair of the Panola Foundation. I've always been an advocate for Panola College, and I'm excited to be able to help the administration.

—Charley Hughes
