Commissioners praise city manager's efforts

City approves new budget; taxes to remain unchanged

Although taxes in school districts delected around the City of Carthage during the past few years, the Carthage City Council recently approved a new budget that reflected a slight increase in general fund revenues. The budget, which includes a 2% increase in the property tax rate, was approved by the City Council on Tuesday night.

The new budget, which will be in effect for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, includes a $2 million increase in general fund revenues, bringing the total budget to $40 million. The increase in revenues is due to an expected increase in sales tax revenue, as well as an increase in property tax revenue.

The city's property tax rate, which has been stable for the past few years, will increase from $0.44 per $100 of valuation to $0.46 per $100 of valuation. The increase in the property tax rate will result in a slight increase in the property tax bill for most homeowners in the city.

The new budget also includes a $1 million increase in capital projects, which will be used to fund a new police station and improvements to the city's water and sewer systems.

The city's overall budget includes $17 million for operations, $12 million for capital projects, and $11 million for debt service.

Jenifer Thames, city manager, said the new budget was developed to ensure the city remains financially stable while also providing for the city's long-term needs.

"The new budget reflects the city's commitment to providing quality services to our residents," Thames said. "We have taken steps to ensure that we have the funds necessary to maintain and improve our city's infrastructure, while also keeping our property tax rates stable.

The city's budget also includes a $1 million increase in reserves, bringing the total reserve to $1.5 million. The increase in reserves will help ensure that the city has enough funds to cover unexpected expenses, such as natural disasters or other unforeseen events.

The city's budget also includes a $1 million increase in the city's pension fund, bringing the total pension fund to $10 million. The increase in the pension fund will help ensure that the city's employees are able to receive a adequate retirement.

The city's budget also includes a $1 million increase in the city's library fund, bringing the total library fund to $2 million. The increase in the library fund will help ensure that the city's residents have access to a wide range of resources and services, including books, magazines, and other materials.

The city's budget also includes a $1 million increase in the city's parks and recreation fund, bringing the total parks and recreation fund to $2 million. Middle East ex-patriots should have been aware of danger

Iraqi hostages shouldn't be surprised

With the exception of the middle east, the world seems to have been taken by surprise by the Iraqi hostage crisis. But those middle east ex-patriots who have lived in the region and have had the opportunity to be aware of the situation are not surprised by the crisis. They are not surprised because they have been aware of the danger for many years. They have been aware of the political instability in the region and the possibility of an Iraqi invasion. They have been aware of the potential for a humanitarian disaster.

Networks try new concepts as fall season begins

Some shows really debut TV's start

The networks are trying some new concepts this fall season. Some of these concepts are really starting to catch on. For example, the new sitcom "America's Funniest Home Videos" is really starting to catch on. The show is about home videos of people doing silly things. The show is funny and it's really starting to catch on.

'Hurricane Hunters' help prepare Texans

The people of Texas may not be able to stop the hurricane, but they can be prepared for it. The people of Texas are using the "Hurricane Hunters" to help them prepare for the hurricane season. The "Hurricane Hunters" are a group of people who work for the National Hurricane Center. The "Hurricane Hunters" go out to sea and they do hurricane hunting. They are the people who are going to be able to tell us when a hurricane is coming and how bad it's going to be. The "Hurricane Hunters" are really important to the people of Texas. They are going to be able to help the people of Texas be prepared for the hurricane season.

Watching Washington

It is easy to see the worst in Washington, D.C. The politicians are always fighting with each other and the people are always frustrated with the politicians. But it is important to remember that Washington, D.C. is the home of the United States government. The United States government is responsible for running the country and it is important that the people of Washington, D.C. be able to trust the government.

PUBLIC NOTICE
1993 EXPLANATORY STATEMENT
OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NOVEMBER 8, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

California Constitution elections. The following propositions propose a constitutional amendment to provide that if the Secretary of State determines that any candidate for public office is not domiciled in California, such candidate may not serve in any official or public capacity as a result of election until the person attains the candidacy in the election. The names and addresses of the candidates constitute a nomination that must be in compliance with the requirements of the Secretary of State. The amendment provides that such candidates may not be elected or serve in any capacity until they are domiciled in California. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

The constitutional amendment to clarify the duties of the Secretary of State, candidates for public office, and candidates for public office and to provide for the recall of such officials is hereby adopted and made part of the California Constitution. The Secretary of State shall not permit the election of any candidate who is not domiciled in California until the candidate resides in California for at least two years.
