BRING A FRIEND OR NEIGHBOR TO YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP

We are often asked by our House of Worship to try to persuade others to come and worship the Lord. Thank you for your interest, and only the Lord knows how many people might be turned away from this wonderful event. We too often find ourselves in situations where we are not sure what to do. Nevertheless, we can all be examples of the blessings we have received, even because we have no problems, because we know that even in these times of need and trial, the Lord is with us. If it is an attitude we might adopt, even to providing transportation. However, many people tend to stay away from this wonderful event. Even if we can, we wouldn't know what to tell them. Our Patients Tell The Story

"I am very happy with my surgery. I've even gotten the restrictions removed from my driver's license." - Mrs. Ronnie Waddles Livingston

"After my cataract surgery, I saw colors I had forgotten existed. Having my vision restored has really made a difference for me." - William Durna Henderson

"I'm thoroughly enjoying reading and doing things that I could not do before my cataract surgery. Dr. Lehmann restored vision I didn't know I had." - Jack Thompson Rust

Loss of hearing comes with age

When Ronald Reagan said some years back, "It helps to look older in a few places," he offered a long way toward enabling the aging, who have lived it. Still, an estimated 30 million people in the U.S. have an untreated hearing loss— which one at least is outstanding and that’s on both ears. We often read about those who have various causes to address the problem, including age. AARP has published a report on hearing aids that also offers tips on selecting the right equipment. You may want to take a look.

One of the most widespread problems with hearing aids is that the hearing aid itself is less than useful. The smaller size makes it more portable and easier to replace. But the smaller size also means it isn’t as effective in terms of the volume you can hear. The larger size is designed to be more effective in terms of volume and clarity.

The hearing aids are also designed to be more comfortable. They are designed to be more comfortable in terms of the volume you can hear. The larger size is designed to be more effective in terms of volume and clarity.

If you are looking for a hearing aid that is comfortable and effective, you may want to consider a larger size.
