Christmas memories surround family

It wasn't 1950 and we were just another country family in another small town. It was the Great Depression, but we were happy and we were family. My mother didn't have a car, but she knew how to drive and she knew how to sew. We made the family investments. But she was a great cook and she was always baking something.

Christmas was always a time of joy and love. Our family got together with relatives from across the country. We would sing carols and have big dinners. The aroma of baking was everywhere.

It was also the day after Christmas, when everyone was eager to see what was in the stockings and the tree. We would sit around the tree, playing games and laughing. We would exchange gifts and open presents. It was a time of joy and love.

But we also knew the struggle of the Depression. We had to find ways to stretch our food and to make ends meet. But Christmas was a time to forget about that.

I remember one year, a friend of mine had a new toy. It was a bicycle. We all wanted one. We would line up and wait for our turn to ride it. It was a magical time. We would make Believe.

Blue Stockings and treats for the horse stable. Every year, the local store contributed a piece of clothing for each member of the family. We would write letters to Santa, hoping for the best.

Christmas was a time to be together, to laugh, to love, and to forget the struggles of the Depression.

What I want for Christmas...

I want to be with my family. I want to see my mother, my father, and my siblings. I want to hear their laughter and to feel their love.

This year, I will be with my family. We will make memories and we will create new ones.

Christmas is a time of joy and love. It is a time to be together. It is a time to remember.

Christmas offers hope for all

This year, I'll see how the smile on someone's face changes when I hand them a gift. It's the gift of giving, and it's the gift of Christmas. It's the gift of hope, and it's the gift of love. It's the gift of Christmas.

The joy of giving is the joy of receiving. It's the joy of seeing someone's face light up with the realization that someone cares. It's the joy of knowing that you've made a difference in someone's life.

So this Christmas, give the gift of love, the gift of hope, and the gift of giving. Because in the end, it's not what you receive that matters, but who you share it with. And who you share it with is who will always remember.
