Price keeps Fulgham file closed

By CHARLES HICKEY

Pampa County District Attorney Matthew Price has declined to file a formal charge against two county officials accused of misusing county funds,prompting a meeting with a local attorney to discuss the matter.

County Commissioner Dan Black she will not seek an indictment against the two officials, saying, "I don't want to see the county go through a lot of legal problems." She added that she plans to seek reimbursement for the money misused.

Price said he has no plans to take any action against the officials, including Commissioner Black and County Attorney John Dowdy, unless they are caught misusing county funds again.

"I'm not going to do anything unless they do something wrong," Price said. "I don't want to see them prosecuted for something they didn't do.

Price said his office will continue to investigate the case, but he is not actively pursuing any charges.

"We're just going to keep an eye on them and see if they do anything wrong," Price said. "If they do, then we'll take action.

Price also declined to comment on any potential civil action against the officials.

"I don't want to go into details about that," Price said. "We're just going to wait and see what happens.

LEGAL NOTICES

Will this old acquaintance be forgot?

When Charlie left the New Year's party he said "see you come year": unfortunately, he didn't live to see the following year. He has been gone a thousand of our fine people who are left on to remember him for each year.

And his friends will remember him, that they just don't notice but too much to think about him. This holiday is a reminder that it's a good judgment. Don't be so hard on the other guy, etc.

Have a safe holiday!
