Panola County supports soldiers

In an address to the American people at 6 p.m. central time, Pres- ident Bush said his government had made a "sound and solid" decision to send troops into Kuwait. "We have no choice," the President told the American people. "We must act to protect our security." The President also said that the U.S. military would continue to work with the United Nations and other international organizations to ensure a peaceful resolution of the crisis. "We will not stand by and watch history turn its back on us," the President said.

Editorial

United we stand, divided we fall

We saw a vivid reminder of history, Tuesday night, as we once again discovered the horror that drives the global community. The Rwanda massacre, which left thousands dead, once again demonstrated the complexity of the world's political and social landscape. We are facing a world where the struggle for power and resources is at its core, and we must stand united to ensure that our actions reflect a commitment to peace and justice.

Troops need our support

The U.S. military is facing a tough challenge: to provide a safe and secure environment for the people of the region. We must support the troops and ensure their safety.

Former Panola County nurse called to duty in Middle East

By LAURA ROGERS

Our readers might want to remember this week’s Panola Profiles column about a Panola County nurse who has been called to duty in the Middle East. The column was written by Laura Rogers, and it features the story of a nurse who has been deployed to the region.

Sherry Byler, who is originally from Panola County, is currently serving as a nurse in the Middle East. She recently shared some thoughts about her experience and the challenges she faces.

"The work is rewarding, but it’s also challenging," Byler said. "I’ve had to learn how to adapt to the local culture, and it’s not always easy. But I’m proud to be serving my country in this way."
