Hussein violates Geneva Convention

By CHARLES McLUDE

Editor

President George Bush expressed outrage on behalf of the nation when he told the nation that Iraq, denied Hussein's violation of the Geneva Convention of 1949, which protects prisoners of war. The president accused rogue nations of "using weapons of mass destruction.

The president's speech was delivered to the nation on January 17, 1991. It was a speech that had been prepared by the staff of the White House. It was a speech that had been prepared to respond to the demands of the international community. It was a speech that had been prepared to respond to the demands of the people of the United States. It was a speech that had been prepared to respond to the demands of the people of the world.

The speech was a powerful speech. It was a speech that had been prepared to respond to the demands of the international community. It was a speech that had been prepared to respond to the demands of the people of the United States. It was a speech that had been prepared to respond to the demands of the people of the world.

President Bush said: "We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. We must not be complacent. Pellham hosts Garden club

By Anne Smart

Pellham City Council will hold its annual day meeting May 13, when the city maintenance department will meet to hear the progress report of the city's maintenance department.

The department, which is responsible for the care and upkeep of the city's parks, streets, and sidewalks, is a crucial part of the city's infrastructure. The department's work is essential to the overall well-being of the community, as it helps to ensure that the city's residents have access to clean, safe, and well-maintained public spaces.

The city's maintenance department is staffed by a group of dedicated workers who are committed to providing the best possible service to the community. They are responsible for a wide range of tasks, including the maintenance of the city's sidewalks, streets, and parks, as well as the care of the city's trees and landscaping.

The department is also responsible for the maintenance of the city's public buildings, including the city hall, the police department, and the fire department. The department's work is essential to the overall wellbeing of the community, as it helps to ensure that the city's residents have access to clean, safe, and well-maintained public spaces.

The city's maintenance department is a model of efficient and effective public service, and its work is an important part of the city's overall commitment to providing the best possible service to its residents.

Dixon's visit relatives

I went to see you, Mr. Dixon, yesterday. I called to see if you were still alive. I found out that you were.

How to Prevent Accidents When Digging Near Underground Gas Lines

natural gas is delivered through a system of underground piping. Some of these lines might be located beneath the property you own. The city has a system to help you locate these lines. It's called the "Dig Safe" program. Before you dig, call Dig Safe at 693-3271. They will come out and dig a line to indicate the location of your gas line.

They chose Forethought—funeral planning. My first reaction was, "What's the hurry?" But after they explained it to me, I realized how sensible they are.

"When my parents wrote to me saying that they had planned their own funerals, I was shocked. Then I realized how sensible they are."
