New school funding bill could sack CISD
Panola, Shelby counties join taxes

By LAURA MCGILL and JERRY BURKERT

The new school funding bill is not the only area of concern for the school districts in Panola and Shelby counties. The districts are also facing financial challenges due to the ongoing coronavirus pandemic. The bill, if passed, could provide additional funding to the districts, but it is uncertain how much the districts will receive and how they will use the funds. Additionally, the districts are facing budget cuts due to the reduction in state funding. It is essential for the districts to find creative ways to manage their finances and ensure the continuity of education for their students.

Job becoming difficult

County approves CNA as insurance carrier

With every passing year, obtaining medical insurance has become more and more difficult. The current situation is worsened by the ongoing coronavirus pandemic, which has made obtaining health insurance even more challenging. The county has approved CNA as an insurance carrier, which could provide a solution to the problem. However, it is crucial to consider the rates and coverage options before making a decision.

Although commissioners were unsure if the review process was a good idea, they decided to move forward with it. As a result, the review process for the new insurance carrier has been completed. The outcome of the review is uncertain, but it is expected that the county will make a decision on whether to approve the new carrier soon.

In the case of the CNA decision, the commissioners have been divided. Some commissioners believe that the new carrier will provide better coverage and lower rates, while others are concerned about the quality of the service. The commissioners have agreed to provide the new insurance carrier with additional funding to help them establish their operations in the county.

The decision to approve CNA as an insurance carrier is a significant step forward. It is hoped that the new carrier will be able to provide better coverage for the county residents, and that the county will be able to save money in the long run. However, it is important to monitor the performance of the new carrier and ensure that they are meeting the needs of the county residents.

Absentee voting begins Monday

The new school funding bill is not the only area of concern for the school districts in Panola and Shelby counties. The districts are also facing financial challenges due to the ongoing coronavirus pandemic. Additionally, the districts are facing budget cuts due to the reduction in state funding. It is essential for the districts to find creative ways to manage their finances and ensure the continuity of education for their students.

Absentee voting will be available in all school districts in Panola and Shelby counties. The districts have already started the process of preparing for the upcoming election. Absentee ballots will be available starting on Monday, and voters can submit them by mail or in person. Additionally, some districts will offer early voting options for those who cannot vote on election day.

Island walls being considered

The new school funding bill is not the only area of concern for the school districts in Panola and Shelby counties. The districts are also facing financial challenges due to the ongoing coronavirus pandemic. The bill, if passed, could provide additional funding to the districts, but it is uncertain how much the districts will receive and how they will use the funds. Additionally, the districts are facing budget cuts due to the reduction in state funding. It is essential for the districts to find creative ways to manage their finances and ensure the continuity of education for their students.

The proposed island walls are intended to provide additional security and protection for the residents of the island. The walls would be constructed in phases, and the construction process would be monitored by local authorities. The project is expected to take several years to complete, and it is hoped that the walls will provide a safe and secure environment for the island residents.

Although the cost of the project is currently unknown, the island residents believe that the benefits of the new walls outweigh the costs. The walls will provide protection against potential natural disasters, such as hurricanes and floods, and they will also provide a sense of security and peace for the residents of the island.

The proposed island walls are a significant step forward in providing a safer and more secure environment for the island residents. However, it is important to consider the potential environmental impacts of the project and ensure that the construction process is environmentally friendly.
