Graduations this Friday
Carthage, 8 p.m.

Commissioner recesses at Cordillera will be held at 8 p.m. Friday night in Martin auditorium. veteran members will be present and the program will include the presentation of the annual awards to the best student and the awarding of scholarships to the best graduate. The closing will be made by the Cordillera county chairman.

Patricia J. Wall, member of the Department of Education Board of Education, will deliver the commencement address.

Commissioner G. A. J. L. B. (Bob) Johnson, the author of the annual awards to the best student, will be presented to the graduates and friends of the Cordillera county chairman.

"I hope you have your tickets—attend a valedictory," Dr. Johnson said. "I think we are due for an annual awards to the best student, and I hope we are able to do something about it...." The annual awards to the best student are due to be presented at the annual commencement.

Memorial Day honors fallen veterans

"If you love your freedom — render a volver," V.F.W. District 24 hosted a Memorial Day service in honor of the V.F.W. District 24’s annual service with honors.

The service was held at the Cordillera county courthouse.

"Today is the 150th anniversary of the fall of the Confederacy," Dr. Johnson said. "It is the beginning of a new chapter of our history as a country..."

Memorial Day services are being held all over the state of Texas.

The ceremony included special presentations to those who served in the army and air force. A wreath was placed on the Cordillera county courthouse.

"We are dedicated to those who served in the armed forces and those who served during the war," Dr. Johnson said.

The Cordillera county committee was congratulated by Dr. Johnson for their work in making the ceremony a success.

"I want to thank the committee for their hard work and dedication to making sure that Memorial Day is remembered," Dr. Johnson said.

"I hope you enjoy your freedom — render a volver," Dr. Johnson said.

Missouri case a physicians dilemma

The 69-year-old Charlotte Economics professor and his wife, whose cases both at the University of Kansas School of Medicine, have been linked to a more aggressive form of the disease. In a recent report, the authors say their findings could help improve the care of cancer patients. "There is a need for more research in this area," they write. "The more we learn about the biology of cancer and the more we understand about how it affects our health, the more we can do to help people with cancer."

Letter to the editor

We recently read an article about the potential benefits of a new type of cancer treatment. While we agree with the general principles, we would like to raise some concerns about the practicality of implementing such a treatment.

Chamber redistricting plan approved during Queen's visit

The redistricting plan approved by the state legislature during Queen's visit to Texas has raised concerns among some residents. "It's a slippery slope," said one local resident. "If we start redrawing district lines based on political considerations, who's to say what will come next?"

Local woman did her part for Desert Storm

Davis proud of her role in war

Alva (Alvin) Davis, 75, of Oxnard, was among the thousands of people who worked on the Desert Storm effort. As a member of the Oxnard Veterans of Foreign War, she spent her days organizing and coordinating the efforts of other veterans to support the troops. She also worked at the Red Cross, helping to supply the troops with snacks and supplies. Despite her age, Davis never complained and continued to work tirelessly until the war was over.

Customers offered 900 blocking

During the Desert Storm, customers were offered 900 blocking as a thank you for their support. The service included free long-distance calls to Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, as well as special rates for calls to other countries in the Middle East. Many people who had never before used long-distance service were able to call their loved ones and relay messages of support and encouragement.

It's a fact!

The Desert Storm effort was made possible by the contributions of thousands of individuals and organizations. Among them was John Doe, a high school basketball coach who donated all of his team's earnings to the cause. His team even held a charity game, which was attended by many prominent figures, including President Bill Clinton and Vice President Al Gore. The game was a huge success, raising over $50,000 for the troops.
