College audit tops $90,000

For several years, Bates has formed the college board of internal bookkeeping system, some of which have gone uncorrected prior to this year.

Prior to considering Monday's budget proposals, the board will meet tomorrow (Friday) to hear financial highlights as well as the fiscal plan for next year.

Incentives offered

Incentives for early completion of the audit will be offered to college employees and other educational institutions which complete their audits early. The initiative is intended to encourage timely completion of audits and improve financial management practices at the college.

Economic plan to help business

Since 1969, 209,800 people in Texas have had the option of raising the contribution rates for their educational institution. The college audit bills have increased due to inflation.
