We, the family of Vicki Bagley, have all received great consolation and comfort in the help and understanding of friends like you. We shall long remember your thoughtfulness in our recovered love.

Wayne Bagley and Family

The following poem was written for Vicki Bagley by her daughter, Tisa. It was read to her on this past Mother's Day, prior to her death, May 16th.

MOTHER'S LOVE

Mother, you've always been there
When you're not, there's no one
When you're gone, I'm lost

Mother, you're the one who leaves
But you never say good-bye

Mother, you're the one who stays
But you're always gone

Mother, you're the one who loves
But you're never enough

Mother, you're the one who cares
But you're never enough

Mother, you're the one who helps
But you're never enough

Mother, you're the one who gives
But you're never enough

Mother, you're the one who

Mother, you're the one who

Mother, you're the one who

With love always and forever,
Tisa

"With Angels like the Rehab staff, I saw miracles happen!"

Edwina Melder, about the Willis-Knighton Rehab Staff

Edwina Melder of Shreveport was the victim of an auto-accident that left her with a marked injury to her spine. She saw, in her own words, "healing miracles," until she was brought to Willis-Knighton's Rehabilitation Institute. "From the moment on, I knew I was going to be OK," Melder says. "I had a very definite feeling of confidence from the staff." Melder stresses that her recovery was not easy, but the staff's professionalism and genuine caring from the Rehab Team got her over the rough spots. "I was really impressed with another patient who was learning to use artificial limbs. She taught me how the Rehab Institute is not just moments of individual triumph, but what recovery is all about - what the staff here is all about. They are angels, and with their love and patience, God makes miracles happen for people like me.

The Willis-Knighton Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Institute is a 34-bed facility engaged in the rehabilitation of patients who have suffered strokes, head injuries, spinal injuries, amputations, major multiple trauma, spine injuries, hip or femur fractures, or any other medical or surgical disorder requiring an intensive rehabilitation program.
