Panola College seeking proposals from auditors

In the beginning, Panola College's Board of Trustees was looking for a new approach to audit its financial statements. The Board had been experiencing challenges with previous auditors, and they wanted to explore new options. The decision to seek proposals from different auditors was made to ensure the most thorough and cost-effective audit possible.

Knowledge critical in poisoning cases

Poisoning cases can be complex, especially when trying to identify the source of the toxin. This requires a combination of knowledge, experience, and advanced testing techniques. The use of forensic analysis and toxicology studies are crucial in determining the cause and effect of the poisoning.

Consulting firm hired by Cartage

As negotiations with the consulting firm progressed, the City of Cartage decided to move forward with hiring the firm. The firm's expertise in city management and policy development was seen as valuable in guiding the city through its current challenges.

Two thankful to earn GED certificate

The community was proud of the two individuals who earned their GED certificates. Their dedication and hard work paid off, and they served as an inspiration to others in the community who may be considering pursuing a GED.

Panola County taking new approach to budget

Panola County Commissioners decided to take a new approach to their budget process. This new approach involved involving more stakeholders in the decision-making process, which was expected to lead to more informed and effective budget decisions.

For the few months remaining, local unemployment remained low. Only 330 local residents were on unemployment benefits, which was a significant decrease from last year. However, the outlook for the future was uncertain, and the county was prepared to respond to any changes.

Rising costs demand rising income

By TOM GROSS

Carthage, Mississippi, June 6

The ever-increasing cost of living has had an impact on the local economy, with the cost of basic necessities such as food, housing, and utilities increasing at a faster rate than wages. As a result, many families are finding it difficult to make ends meet.

One solution to this problem is to increase income. However, this can be difficult for those who are already working long hours and have no time or resources to take on additional work. Additionally, increasing income may not be feasible for those who are unemployed or underemployed.

DeBerry holds school reunion

It's a fitting time to look back on the past and ahead to the future. The Panola County High School Class of 1950 recently held its 50-year reunion in DeBerry. The reunion was held at the DeBerry Community Center, where former classmates gathered to reminisce about their time in school and share stories of their lives since graduation.

The reunion featured a special guest, former teacher Mrs. Sarah Johnson, who shared memories from her time teaching at the school. Mrs. Johnson spoke about the challenges of teaching in a rural community and the importance of education for the students.

In addition to the guest speaker, there were also several former students who shared their experiences at the school. One former student, who had recently returned from a trip to China, talked about his adventures in the Far East and the impact it had on his life.

Overall, the reunion was a great success and provided a wonderful opportunity for former classmates to reconnect and share stories of their lives. It was a moving reminder of the importance of education and the impact it can have on our lives.
