Watchdog group publishes figures

In Carthage, local property taxes were 95% of revenue in 1992, according to the Tax Commissioner’s annual report. The report reveals that Carthage’s property taxes brought in $3,800,000, which is a significant amount of revenue for the city. The report also notes that the city’s property tax rates are among the highest in the county.

Budget okayed

Appraisal directors urge special session

Because this year is the Texas Supreme Court election, the current school funding law will soon be changed. Although the Supreme Court has ruled that schools must have a minimum of 50% of their budget from property taxes, the legislature has not upheld this decision. The appraisal districts have been asked to consider changing the budget to a 50% minimum from property taxes, which would allow for more flexibility in funding schools.

Suiet to decide DA’s fate

A Dallas judge will hear arguments Thursday in a lawsuit challenging the suspension of District Attorney against four of his former lieutenants. The lawsuit was filed by a Dallas County judge, who said that the judge had the authority to discipline the prosecutor. The Dallas County judge ordered the suspension of the prosecutor and his four lieutenants, who were charged with misconduct.

Batten's Disease topic of local conference

Dr. Batten was a dog breeder who became a pediatrician and neonatologist. He was one of three physicians who first described the disease in the 1920s. The disease is a progressive, degenerative disorder of the brain and spinal cord that begins in childhood. It is characterized by a loss of muscle control, intellectual decline, and seizures. As the disease progresses, the patient may become incapacitated and require constant care. Currently, there is no cure for the disease, but there are treatments available that can help manage symptoms.

Fourteen injured in automobile accident

A fourteen-car pileup on a rural highway in Texas left fourteen people injured yesterday. The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 281 between Big Spring and San Angelo, about 150 miles west of San Antonio. The crash was caused by a reckless driver who was speeding and weave through the traffic. Eight of the injured were transported to hospital emergency rooms with non-life-threatening injuries. The accident caused a traffic jam that lasted for several hours, causing delays for travelers in the area.
