Cancer screening this Monday

Free examination could save lives

One in 15 men will develop prostatic cancer some time in their life. But it is the second most common cause of cancer death in men.

To help spread the word of this, the Texas Cancer Society and Dr. Martin Nichol of Texas Healthway and St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, 4500 W. Holman, are offering free examinations from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday.

Nicol, who runs the Prostate Cancer Screening Program, said men should be examined every year for prostate cancer.

"Prostate gland abnormalities can be detected at this point," he said.

Man arrested for attempted murder

A Corpus Christi man was charged with attempted murder after he was held at gunpoint in his car by a police officer.

Detective Jason Luttrell said the man, identified as 31-year-old William Paul Salazar, was driving a car on the 1000 block of Avenue A around 3 p.m. when he was stopped by a police officer.

Salazar had been involved in a previous altercation with the officer, who recognized him and contacted the Corpus Christi police department.

When the officer arrived on scene, he noticed that Salazar was behaving erratically and appeared to be under the influence of drugs.

The officer then approached the car and ordered Salazar to get out. He complied, and the officer noticed a gun in the car. After searching him, he found a second gun in his waistband.

Salazar was arrested and charged with attempted murder.

Ratcliffe opposes UT Tyler expansion

Sen. Bill Ratcliffe, a Republican, said he opposes a proposal by the University of Texas at Tyler to expand its campus in Texas.

"I believe that the expansion of UT Tyler would be detrimental to the economic development of the Paris area," Ratcliffe said in a statement.

The proposal was approved by the Board of Regents in March and would allow the university to build a new campus in Paris, which is located on the outskirts of the city.

Robbery story untrue, police say

A Corpus Christi police officer says the story of a man who was robbed and shot in the arm during a home invasion is false.

The officer said the man told him he was forced to open the door to the house and then was shot in the arm.

However, after investigating the incident, the officer determined that the man had fabricated the story to obtain sympathy from others.

The officer said the man was found to be intoxicated and was arrested for public intoxication.

Remembering the Lowrie family

Know Your Heritage

By Leila N. Lebron

The Lowrie family, long-time residents of Carrizo Springs, is one of the oldest in the area. The family has been active in the community for generations, and their legacy continues to this day.

The Lowrie family's roots can be traced back to the early 1900s, when they moved to Carrizo Springs from Texas. The family was involved in various local activities, including the establishment of the Carrizo Springs newspaper, the Carrizo Springs Post.

The family has made significant contributions to the community, including the establishment of the Lowrie Family Foundation, which supports local education and community programs.

In honor of the Lowrie family and their contributions to the community, a community park has been named in their honor. The park is located at 123 Lowrie Avenue and is open to the public.

The Lowrie family is a shining example of the values of community service and dedication.

Dawgs 13-10 win over Chapel Hill comes hard

By Ron Chappell

Chapel Hill and Cowden both delivered pleasant surprises to all but their respective fans. The Cowden Dawgs came away with a thrilling 16-6 victory over Chapel Hill. The Dawgs dominated the game from the start, never allowing the Demons to get closer than two points wire-to-wire. The Dawgs' defense held the Demons scoreless in the second half, and their offense scored 13 unanswered points to secure the victory. With the win, the Dawgs improve to 4-2 on the season.

Beckville rises above adversity

By Bob Taylor

Beckville, the sleeping giant of the West, finally awoke. The Bears, led by quarterback John Smith, defeated Cushing 19-6. The Bears scored 19 points in the first half, while Cushing managed just 3. The Bears' defense held Cushing to just 6 points in the second half. The win was a statement to Beckville's opponents that the Bears are finally ready to take the next step. Smith, who threw for 2 touchdowns and ran for another, was named MVP of the game.
