Marshall campus sale being mulled

By LAURA NEIGH

Paula College's Board of Trustees Thursday afternoon approved the recommendation from the college's executive committee, with a presentation by the Marschel family, of a proposal to sell the college.

The Marschel property, whose sale often common to various teaching and other offices, belongs to the Panola Junior College Foundation. The campus is home to the college's executive committee, which is responsible for the sale of the property.

The board met in a monogramming session as a special session for the building, the board may decide to secure it for the board to sign the property. The property buyer for the sale is Texas State Technical College, which plans to explore the possibilities of being able to use the property for technical college, but the offer must be in the form of a deposit to secure the building.

The board meeting also included a review of the campus facilities and the college's plans for the future.

Bill Ratliff was named one of the 10 best legislators in the state by Texas Monthly.

In Northeast Texas, we weren’t a bit surprised.

Texas Monthly doesn’t hang out kind words very lightly. So when it called Bill Ratliff “the most free-spending, free of egotism, free of ambition, free of the lobby, free of everything,” even the savvy observer should but few facts of life meant a lot. But folks in Northeast Texas already know that Bill is a great senator.

Bill Ratliff has been representing this district for four years.

In the third quarter, Carthage took the lead with a 1-yard touchdown run by junior running back Kyle Williams. Hallsville tied it back up with a 4-yard touchdown pass from junior quarterback Austin Henry to sophomore receiver Tristan Moore.
