Panola College to sell Marshall campus

By LAURA NEILY

Panola College officials are putting the finishing touches on the purchase of the old Marshall High School building.

The officials have been working on the purchase for over a year. The college has been trying to get the building for some time, but the property has been in the family of the late Mrs. Sarah J. Marsh for many years.

The college plans to use the building as a center for adult education and community services.

The purchase of the building will allow the college to expand its programs and provide more services to the community.

"This is a historic building that has been a part of Marshall's history for many years," said Dr. John H. Williams, president of Panola College. "With the purchase of this building, we will be able to offer a variety of programs and services to the community."
How do we rise above the fray?

Storied high as the Alps, the new Panola County courthouse sits majestically atop a hill in Carthage, overlooking the Historic Square. The structure's imposing presence has become an emblem of the region's rich history and transformation.

“Panola County is one of the most beautiful places I have ever been,” said County Judge J. J. Payne. “It’s a great location for our courthouse.”

The new courthouse, which opened in 2014, was built to meet the needs of the growing county. With its sleek, modern design and advanced technology, it represents a new chapter in Panola County’s story.

“This is a tremendous asset for Panola County,” Payne said. “It’s a symbol of our commitment to providing excellent service to our citizens.”

The courthouse is a hub of activity, with courtrooms, offices, and meeting spaces. It houses the county’s administration, as well as courts that handle civil, criminal, and family cases.

“We’ve had a lot of positive feedback from our visitors,” Payne said. “The courthouse is a testament to our dedication to excellence.”

The new courthouse is not just a building; it’s a symbol of hope for Panola County. Its presence serves as a reminder of the strength and resilience of the community. As the county continues to grow and evolve, the courthouse will remain a steadfast beacon of justice and fairness.

How To Turn Six Numbers Into Five Figures.

The numbers are the key to turning your dreams into reality. But with only six to choose from, it can be a daunting task. That’s why we’ve created this guide to help you turn your six numbers into five figures.

Here’s how it works:

1. Choose your six numbers. Make sure they are unique and not too close to each other. This will increase your chances of winning.
2. Multiply your number by three. This will give you a total of 18 numbers to work with.
3. Choose three numbers from each of the six sets. This will give you a total of 18 numbers.
4. Add the numbers together. This will give you a total number.
5. Multiply the total number by five. This will give you your final result.

For example, if you chose the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, you would multiply each number by three to get 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, and 18. Then, you would choose three numbers from each set to get 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, and 18. Adding these numbers together gives you 48. Multiplying 48 by five gives you 240, which is your final result.

Remember, the key to turning your dreams into reality is consistency. Keep playing and you’ll be on your way to turning your six numbers into five figures.

PC expects close race for second

Thot Valley has first and second place up in the Texas Class A playoff bracket. They are in third place in the standings. They have a lot of characters, Suñil and gals.

"It's a tough game," said Coach Mike Johnson. "We have to play our best to get the second place." If the Skippers win, they'll meet Del Rio in the finals. Del Rio has a good record and is considered one of the favorites. The game will be on Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Ruidoso Valley Civic Center.

Ponies open campaign Friday

Pony fans have been waiting for the annual `small' Ponies basketball championship, but this year they are under very different circumstances. The Ponies have a young team, but they are determined to prove themselves.

The Ponies' coach, Coach Dave Johnson, said, "We have some good players, but they need to learn to play as a team." He added, "We have a lot of characters, and I think we can win this thing." The Ponies will play their first game on Friday at 7 p.m. at the Ponies' gym.
