Where have all the statesmen gone?

Once upon the Texas legislature, the statesmen were a breed apart. Today, they seem scarce. The reason? They have gone the way of the Dodo. The reality is, they have been replaced by the politicians who work for the people they represent.

The subtle difference is that the statesmen cared about the state, whereas the politicians are only interested in getting re-elected. The statesmen were not afraid to make tough decisions, even if it meant sacrificing their political career. The politicians, on the other hand, are only interested in getting re-elected.

One can only wonder if the statesmen will ever return. It seems unlikely, given the current political climate. The politicians are more interested in catering to the voters' desires, even if it means sacrificing the state's interests.

The end result is that the state is being run by politicians who are only interested in their own political careers. The statesmen, on the other hand, are a lost breed, only to be remembered in the history books.

Angelina takes lead, 107-77
Panola outclassed by TEC’s leaders

Outnumbered and outmatched, the Bobcats were no match for the TEC. The Tigers took control early, scoring 10 points in the first quarter and outscoring Panola 25-11. The game was never in doubt as the Tigers improved their record to 20-7.

The loss was tough for the Bobcats, who had been playing well in recent games. Coach Bob Davis said, "We're happy with the way we played, but we just couldn't match up with the Tigers. They're a good team and we need to improve our defense." The Bobcats are now 13-12 for the season.
