Lawsuit naming Cordray dismissed

Tyler judge lets ETCOG, 14 counties off legal hook

The Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and the Texas Railroad Commission (RRC) have been named defendants in a lawsuit by the Fort Bend, Galveston, Harris, and Tarrant counties, alleging that the DEQ and RRC failed to adequately regulate the oil and gas industry in Texas. The plaintiffs seek damages for harm caused by pollution from drilling and fracking activities.

On September 1, the court ruled that the lawsuit should proceed, and that the defendants must respond to the plaintiffs' allegations. The plaintiffs allege that the DEQ and RRC have failed to enforce laws and regulations designed to protect the environment and public health.

The defendants have until October 1 to file their response to the lawsuit. The court will then schedule a hearing to determine whether the case will proceed to trial.

State budget examined

One of the main concerns facing Texas legislators this session is the state budget. Governor Abbott has proposed a $250 billion budget, which includes cuts to education, health care, and social services. The legislature is divided on the issue, with some lawmakers calling for increased funding for these programs.

On September 1, a joint hearing was held by the House Appropriations Committee and the Senate Finance Committee to examine the state budget. The committees heard testimony from state officials and experts on the budget's impact on Texas families.

The Senate Committee also heard testimony from representatives of the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Education Agency. The representatives discussed the impact of budget cuts on public education, including teacher pay, class sizes, and school maintenance.

Today is last chance to cast ballot

This is the last day for registered voters to cast their ballots in the upcoming election. The deadline for early voting is 7:00 PM today.

Texas voters have until today to vote by mail or in person at their local elections office. The last day for in-person voting is 8:00 AM today.

The upcoming election includes races for state and federal offices, including the governor's office, the state legislature, and the United States Congress.

Lawnmower files bill to dismantle APPAC agency

On September 1, Representative John E. Rutherford introduced a bill to dismantle the APPAC (American Political Action Committee) agency. The bill would require the agency to dissolve and cease all operations by the end of the current fiscal year.

The bill would also require the APPAC to refund all donations and contributions received in the current fiscal year. The funds would be deposited into a special fund to be distributed to charitable organizations.

Representative Rutherford said that APPAC has become a "racketeering" organization that is "corrupting the political process." He said that the agency has been "siphoning off" donations from donors and using the funds for political purposes.

The bill would also require the APPAC to provide a detailed report of its operations and financial records to the state Auditor. The report would be made available to the public.

The bill has been referred to the House Committee on Government Organization. The committee is expected to schedule a hearing on the bill in the coming weeks.

"In conclusion, this bill is necessary to protect the integrity of our political process and ensure that all donors are treated fairly," Rutherford said.

FAITH SAYS AVOID BEING OVERSHADOWED BY SUPERSTITION

Now very soon we will come the day
When we see the earthly shadow play
Punishment of the shell.
When he grows from his shell,
With eyes so bright he will no longer
The weather we can all expect.
Without saying on these lines.
He grows to it at once.
Some time his shadow will disclose
The meaning of the high and lows
Of which he forecast that month.
So we will be when winter ends.
But superstition shall ever
Is something we should all avoid.
Not willing to be tricked.
And just have fun on Ground Day.
