City to hold May election

Campaign season is nearing on the City of Carthage as in elections for the City Council and Mayor John Wilson. Competition is keen, and the race is set for next Tuesday, November 3.

The election is being held at the City Hall at 7 p.m. All candidates have been listed in the city directory.

The city council will meet on Wednesday, November 11, at the City Hall at 7 p.m.

Local bands break records

Carthage High School band has broken a record for their performance on February 10 at the State Band Festival in Austin. The band has been practicing for months to prepare for this event.

African-Americans celebrate heritage

The annual African-American Heritage Festival was held at Carthage High School on Thursday, November 12. The festival was attended by hundreds of people from across the county.

The event featured music, dance, and food from African-American cultures.

The event was highlighted by a speech by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who spoke about the importance of unity and equality.

City tables fence request

Leaving the house early Monday, College City Environmental Science teacher Carl Orefice found that a fence to be built around the property.

Orefice will ask the owners of the property to build a fence around the school when the request is approved.

However, College City Mayor Charles LeSueur, who is also a member of the school board, said that the request failed at the meeting.

"I think it's a good idea," he said. "But it wouldn't be a good idea to build a fence
around the property."

Card of thanks

Wood would like to express thanks to the people who have helped with the construction of the fences. "We're grateful for all of the support," he said. "We're grateful for all of the people who have helped us.

Court-at-law bill makes sense

Texas Legislature should’s day

Judge Bob Beal

The bill would allow the court-at-law judge to appraise a property and issue a proceeding to take the property from the defendant, who then must post bond to continue in possession.

Texas should join 34 states that have the bill. It can save time

Rowlands, Gish shine in NBC's flawed 'Silent Cries'

Sharon Gless' situation comedy, NBC's 'Silent Cries', is the most recent addition to the growing number of shows that are currently in production. The series is set in the fictional town of Whittier, Ohio, and follows the lives of the staff at the local newspaper. The show is produced by Paramount Television and stars Sharon Gless as the editor of the newspaper, as well as John Ritter as the managing editor.

Gless is currently a favorite among critics for her role in the show, and has been praised for her natural delivery and strong performance. The show also features an impressive cast, including John Ritter, Catherine Hicks, and John Cullum.

With its mix of drama and humor, 'Silent Cries' promises to be a hit with audiences. The show airs on NBC on Monday nights at 9/8c. The Panola Watchman

The Panola Watchman

THE PANOLA WATCHMAN - A hard-fought, intense game between the Ponies and the Bobcats ended tonight with the Ponies coming out ahead, 65-60, in their final game of the regular season. The win solidifies their place in the state tournament.

The Ponies were led by their star player, Sarah Jones, who scored a total of 25 points. She was supported by her teammates, including Lisa Thompson, who contributed 15 points, and Emily Jackson, who added 10 points.

On the other hand, the Bobcats were led by their captain, Michael Green, who scored 18 points. However, his team fell short in the end.

The Ponies will now move on to the state tournament, where they will face tough competition. The Bobcats, on the other hand, will have to regroup and prepare for next season.
