College completes finalist interviews

By LECRAE NIEU

Community college student population has been changing over the past few years at more and more colleges — in 1989, 25%, 30%, 35%, and even older — join the traditional 18-20-year-old student in the pursuit of an education.

Now key is director of federal programs for the community and technical colleges division of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. He is also the head of the division's student information system for the presidency of Panola College.

College's problems with Board of Trustees members Monday to interview for the post and wife Carole also has the opportunity to look around Carthage and Panola County during their stay.

Boofy was born in the educational field since 1973, working at several colleges in the area.

"It just felt that at this level it was time to go back to campus," he ex- plained of his interest in the job at Panola. "I think the really exciting things are happening on the campus level.

"With a background in vocational education, Key is interested in the national need toward an increase in jobs requiring some vocational or technical training. More and more people will be turning to community colleges, he observed, to get that training.

"Any program in social services training, for example, is a key priority in today's society. More and more students will be entering social work and related fields. It's important for colleges to focus on both types of students.

"I think many programs have a couple of years left in what we've been doing. We've got to put our best ideas into rebuilding developing successful programs, he vowed. "The more academically oriented programs are in the running, and that's what we're going to have to have.

"With the federal programs taking money, we have to develop the funding areas for the development of new and existing programs. That includes all federal and grants and other programs are the ones we're concentrating on to make the most of them.

"I think having educational programs takes money. With state funding for these level, we have to develop areas for the development of new and existing programs. That includes all federal and grants and other programs are the ones we're concentrating on to make the most of them.

Baukele hoping to obtain grant

Baukele is the first to see that his goal is to obtain a grant from the National Science Foundation. He has been working on a project to improve the efficiency of a certain protein used in the production of a particular substance.

Carthage Village Chief Danes is one of several community leaders who have seen the potential of a federal grant. The grant is being made available through the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

"I don't know anybody that I can assign a grant to with the time that is required. It is not something that I have seen a federal grant officer in the past year or so," Baukele explained.

"But I do know that the grant officer is out there. The grant officer is out there. The grant officer is out there.

Physician considers move to Panorama City

By LAURA NEILL

Dr. Gary and Lynette Bennett, who recently sold their practice in the Beverly Hills neighborhood, have been in their Beverly Hills home for many years, but they are considering moving to Panorama City in Los Angeles County.

The couple, who moved from New York City, says they are considering the move because of the many advantages offered by Panorama City. "The weather is great, the schools are wonderful, and the people are friendly," Dr. Bennett said.

Dr. Gary Bennett, who is a pediatrician, says he is looking for a practice in Panorama City that offers a challenging environment and the opportunity to make a difference.

"I want to work with children," he said. "I want to help them grow and develop to their full potential." He adds that Panorama City offers a great place to raise a family and live a fulfilling life.

The Bennetts are not the only ones considering a move to Panorama City. Many other families are looking for a new place to call home and are finding Panorama City to be the perfect choice.

"Panorama City is a great place to live," said Dr. Lynette Bennett. "It has everything we need and more. We look forward to making Panorama City our new home.

Cats for the elderly

Older cats can benefit from a new program in Panorama City that offers cats special care and attention.

The program, called "Cats for Elderly," provides cats with a special diet and regular care to help them live longer and healthier lives.

"Cats for Elderly" is a joint program between the Panorama City Animal Control and the Senior Citizens Association of Panorama City.

"We want to make sure that our elderly residents can have the companionship of a cat," said Mary Johnson, president of the Senior Citizens Association of Panorama City. "We are grateful for this program and will do everything we can to make it a success.

Farm Bureau supporting budget law

By FRANK MILLER

The Farm Bureau has come out in support of the budget law, saying it is crucial for maintaining the nation's economic stability.

"The budget law is essential for the continued prosperity of our country," said Farm Bureau President John Smith. "Without it, we risk slipping into a recession that could be catastrophic.

"The Farm Bureau supports the budget law," he said. "We believe it is the right thing to do and we will do everything we can to help it pass."

PUBLIC NOTICE

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
MAY 11, 1973

PROPOSITION NO. 1

The Initiative Process

The initiative process is the mecha nism by which the people of a state may propose laws to the legislature via a ballot initiative. If the initiative process is not questioned, it will be in effect next year and will no longer be subject to a constitutional amend ment. The initiative process would be eliminated if the proposition is defeated.

PROPOSITION NO. 2

On the Ballot

The proposition would amend the State Constitution to allow for the consummation of propositions to be placed on the ballot. Currently, proposations can only be placed on the ballot after a two-thirds majori ty vote in both the House and the Senate. The amendment would allow the proposition to be placed on the ballot if it receives a majority vote in either chamber.

At Camp was moving home to the sound of the morning, as usual. A very early morning, actually, but no one seemed to be in a hurry to get started. The sun was just beginning to rise and the sky was still dark. The campers were already up and about, unpacking their gear and setting up their tents.

My own tent, on the other hand, was still inflated from the night before. I didn't have time to pack anything up, so I was still sitting in it. I was feeling a little bit groggy, but I was determined to get started.

Ponies rip 20 hits, belt Brookhaven 16-4

DALLAS — Ponies scored 14 runs in the 4th inning and added a pair of 5-run innings on their way to a 16-4 win over Brookhaven. Both teams had plenty of offense, but Brookhaven's defense was not solid enough.

Berry Hughes, the second baseman for Brookhaven, hit a grand slam home run in the 3rd inning to give Brookhaven a 1-0 lead. Hughes finished the day with 3 hits and 3 runs scored. Brookhaven's defense was sloppy, allowing a total of 14 errors.

In the 4th inning, Ponies scored 12 runs on 20 hits, including 5 home runs. The Ponies' coach, Don Clinic, was pleased with the team's performance.

"This was the best game we've played all season," Clinic said. "Our hitting and pitching were both outstanding. We're looking forward to the next game against a tough opponent."
