CED responsible for largest single hike

Total taxes ballooned in 1992

By CHARLES MCCLURE

If you live in the City of Car- go, you will see a tax bill for $7,277 this year, a 20% increase over 1992. The reason why... well, you will find the answer in the text below.

The CED was responsible for a single tax increase of $7,277, courtesy of the Texas Legislature and state courts. The reason was a court order to equalize the value of "non-principal" school districts. There have been four recent court decisions in a manner that would be accepted by the courts.

The most current move on the part of the Legislature will be the decision by Texas voters May 1. Voters will go to the polls to decide if a proposed constitutional amendment, equalizing the value of non-principal school districts, will pass. If the amendment passes, the Legislature would be authorized to act on the ad valorem tax, or it could allow the local CED to do so. The move of CED tax relief would be aimed at the ad valorem tax, or it could allow the local CED to do so.

In 1992, the combined CED and CISD tax was $1.04.

The school property tax structure in Texas is unique to Carago or Panola County. In 1992, local school property tax rates reached $8.45. This amount was a tax relief for non-principal school districts. If pressure by the Legislature would be allowed to act on the ad valorem tax, or it could allow the local CED to do so. The move of CED tax relief would be aimed at the ad valorem tax, or it could allow the local CED to do so. The move of CED tax relief would be aimed at the ad valorem tax, or it could allow the local CED to do so.

Livestock show successful again

Students showed off their best at the Panola County Fair recently. The show was not as large as in previous years, but the quality of the animals was high. The students were able to show a variety of animals, including swine, cattle, and poultry. The show was successful in providing an educational experience for the students.

Students hoping for solid scores

There are 30 Panola County students who will be attending college in the fall. According to the Panola County Report, 20 of these students were accepted at a majority of public universities, 7 were accepted at private universities, and 3 were accepted at both public and private universities. The students were accepted at universities such as Texas A&M, Rice University, and the University of Texas at Austin.

Fire regulations unrealistic

Every day there is a fire in some part of Nevada City. You can see the smoke and hear the sirens, and yet the firemen who respond are unable to stop the flames. In fact, the fire departments have been warned not to attempt to fight such large fires, and instead are advised to evacuate the area and allow the flames to burn themselves out. This is a serious problem, and it is time we addressed it.

Power outages

Power outages are becoming increasingly common in our area, and it is time we addressed the issue. The electric company is quick to blame the weather, but the true cause is a lack of investment in our infrastructure. It is time for us to demand better from our utility companies and ensure that our energy needs are met.
