Consolidation, held a meeting with Judge Scott McCloskey Thursday to discuss the implications of consolidation. McClosky, in his meeting with the superintendent, told the superintendent who were dismissed that the school board would meet next week to the area's faced with a fiscal crisis. The superintendent, who has guided the district since the beginning, has been criticized for his handling of the situation.

The budget, which is the key to local school districts, has been blamed amid chaos and expense as a result of the district's financial problems. With the district in a fiscal crisis, the superintendent has announced cuts to the budget, including layoffs and reduced services. The superintendent has also announced plans to close schools and reduce the district's workforce.

Pamela County Chief Appraiser John Pepper has announced that the county's 2023 assessed value for property has increased by $6 billion compared to last year. The increase in value is expected to result in increased property taxes for homeowners. The increased value will also impact the county's budget, as the county will receive more revenue from property taxes.

The average assessed price for dry natural gas has increased from about $3.20 per Mbtu in 1992 to about $3.20 per Mbtu in 1993, which represents about 23 percent increase in gas prices, which was driven by the increased cost of natural gas. The eight natural gas pipelines are allowed to show increases in their 1993 fixed property values, which is expected to result in increased property taxes for homeowners.

Pioneering settlers founded villages

Know Your Heritage

by Mrs. Lola S. Latrobe

This column is sponsored by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Latrobe, a member of the Saint John’s Chapter, Port Washington, was born in Wisconsin and is the daughter of a pioneer Wisconsin family. She is a graduate of Case Western Reserve University and has served as a director of the National Society for nine years.

As we celebrate the 200th anniversary of the United States, it is important to remember the contributions of our pioneers. The first settlers who came to the new land brought with them not only their skills and knowledge, but also their traditions and values. These traditions and values have shaped our nation's character and continue to influence us today.

In September, 1848, a movement was started in what is now the State of Wisconsin. The first settlers in the new land were the pioneers. They came from all parts of the United States and from abroad, seeking a better life for themselves and their families.

The pioneers faced many challenges. They had to find new homes, build new communities, and create new institutions. But they did so with determination and perseverance.

Today, we can honor the pioneers by learning more about their history and by celebrating their legacy. This column is one way to begin this process.
