Energy tax would hurt county

The Sheltih Thermal Unit in Longview, Texas, willautomation the county’s tax base.

In just a few years, the Sheltih Thermal Unit in Longview will be producing electricity. The unit is expected to double the county’s tax base. According to local officials, the unit is expected to bring in $15 million to $20 million in revenue each year.

State and federal officials have been working on the project for several years. They believe it will be a major economic boost to the area.

Energy tax would hurt county

In many years, as the federal tax credits expire, the unit will become less profitable. This is because the federal tax credits are designed to encourage the construction of new power plants.

The unit is expected to be in operation by the end of 1998. It is located on 10 acres of land near the Longview airport.

Panoa Nationals wallop Jefferson

Pre-Majors lose twice, fall from district meet

Panoa got a walk in of critical importance in大跌 for the second day in a row. After a narrow victory over Jefferson in the first game, Panoa struggled to hold onto a slim lead against Jefferson in the second game.

Though Panoa leading 3-2 into the seventh inning, the team’s defense faltered, allowing Jefferson to tie the game. To make matters worse, the Jefferson offense broke through with a two-run home run in the bottom of the seventh, seizing a 5-3 lead.

Panoa attempted to mount a comeback in their half of the inning. However, the offense could only manage a single run, keeping the score 5-4.

Next up for Panoa is a tough challenge against Jefferson in the third game. A win in this game would secure a spot in the district championship, while a loss would likely end Panoa's season.
